GENERAL NEWS.

No Hope of an Agreement Between the Pennsylvania Factions.

A TERRIFIC GIANT POWDER EXPLOSION NEAR CHICAGO.

Forest Fires in Michigan Doing Immense Damage to Timber and Farms—Work of the Tariff Commission

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—I. D. McKee, chairman of the independent republican state committee, in reply to Thos. V. Cooper, chairman of the republican state committee, regarding the four suggestions for a party union made by the latter to the former committee on the 12th inst., says: "I am directed to say this committee find none of the four suggestions are means by which harmonious and honorable unity of republican voters of Pennsylvania could be obtained. All of them are inadequate to that end. The third suggestion, which alone may demand attention, has a fatal defect in not including withdrawal of that state ticket which was made up many months ago, and long in advance of the Harrisburg convention. This proposition, supposing it to have been sincerely put forward, clearly shows [illegible] the independent re- [illegible] as well as its aims and pur- [illegible] Our object is [illegible] of the boss system [illegible] and we cannot agree to make [illegible] compromise that on its face [illegible] the very object of the movement in which we are engaged. This committee regrets that having considered it desirable to make overtures to the independent republicans you should have so far misapprehended the facts of the situation."

Giant Powder Explosion.

CHICAGO, July 28.—A terrific explosion of giant powder occurred shortly before 6 o'clock last evening at a stone quarry on the northwestern outskirts of the city about six miles away from the business center. The shock of the concussion was plainly felt all over the city and the detonation must have been heard many miles. Extravagant rumors were soon put in circulation as to the damage and loss of life and many telegrams sent to other cities. The facts are a workman went to the powder house, a wooden structure containing, it is stated, 1000 pounds of giant powder and 1000 pounds of blasting powder. He took out a can, left the door open, and setting it on the ground proceeded to open it with a cold chisel. The result was a spark struck and the can exploded, throwing the workman about 30 feet and setting fire to his clothes. Sparks entered the powder house where some of the cans stood open and caused a second explosion which tore the building into minute fragments. People were knocked down by the concussion many blocks away and a large amount of window glass broken and plastering knocked off. Some houses several blocks away were unroofed. It is stated a thin pane of glass nearly seven miles away was broken. No one was killed. A large number of people were more or less injured, but it is believed none dangerously.

The Tariff Commission.

LONG BRANCH, July 28.—The tariff commission continues its public session. It first heard the plea in behalf of aniline dyes. Then Assistant Secretary of the Treasury French continued his explanations and suggestions. The drift of all of them was that the commissioners should consult experts and eliminate as many as possible contradictions and difficulties in tariff regulation. On the question between specific duties and advalorem duties the only way he thought was to determine which form was the better for each particular article under consideration. The remainder of the session of last night was chiefly devoted to pleas by quinine manufacturers for increase of the duty from 10 to 20 per cent.

Representatives of flax growing and flax spinning interests were before the tariff commission to-day. They stated that many factories had abandoned business on account of great cost of labor in America and because protection afforded by the tariff was not equal to the disparity. They claim the same protection as it accorded cotton, worsted and silk manufacturers and recommend uniform duty of 50 per cent advalorem on manufactures of hemp and jute. They also recommend present duties on raw and dressed flax and hemp be increased as protection to the agricultural interest and flax dressers. To place flax, hemp and jute on the free list the same as raw silk and cotton, would spoil a magnificent possibility for the American people. A duty of $15 a ton on raw jute was not felt, and it was believed jute cultivation would be as great an interest and as profitable as that of cotton.

After recess a number of papers were read and the burden of arguments was if the duty on imported jute goods was increased they would have no objection to retention of duty on raw jute. A representative of carriage builders favored increasing the duty on carriages to 45 per cent advalorem on the ground that this figure was the average rate paid for materials in construction of carriages. Assistant Secretary French resumed his lectures upon the difficulties, peculiarities and composition of the existing tariff. Taking up the question of home valuation or foreign valuation, he stated that he would have a list of tariff ambiguities and difficulties prepared and submitted to the commission. A resolution was prepared requesting the secretary of the treasury to assign an expert to prepare such a list, in order to enable the tariff commission to correct complications and errors resulting from those ambiguities. Adjourned until to-morrow.

No Prisoners Wanted There.

LITTLE ROCK, July 28.—A few days since penitentiary lessee Ward sent a gang of convicts to Benton, 25 miles south, on the Iron Mountain railroad, to dig gravel for a railway contractor. Hasson, Will Ward, was in charge and a stockade and other buildings erected. Late Wednesday night a large number of men went to the quarters, burned the buildings and lumber, marched Ward and the convicts to the depot, compelled them to return to Little Rock, and threatened to kill them if they came back. No attempt has been made to resume work. Intense excitement prevails at Benton, and it is believed serious trouble would follow if the convicts were sent back.

The Michigan Forest Fires.

EAST TAWAS, July 28.—Forest fires to the northwest and south are burning fiercely and fields of grain, farm houses, fences and orchards together with immense tracts of cedar and pine are burning. The hemlock roads east of here are impassable and no correct list of losses can be given, as accounts conflict. Brower's camp on Hope creek burned yesterday with a lot of sleighs and lumbering equipages. Reports are received of horses, cattle and other stock burning and farmers deserting their homes. At 3 o'clock this afternoon a thunder storm set in lasting an hour and will tend to check fires. Fires about Oscoda are threatening that town to-day.

Nebraska Temperance Convention.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 28.—The state temperance convention completed its labors to-day and adjourned. An executive committee was appointed to supervise the campaign work throughout the state and five delegates elected to attend the national temperance convention in Chicago in August, 1882. The question of submitting a constitutional amendment to the people will be laid before the state convention so each party may take some decisive action. A thorough canvass of the state in the interest of the amendment was decided on.

New York Notes.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Lattercalla turf club was raided by the police yesterday. Gamblers being forewarned, defaced the apparatus and escaped.

Aaron C. Burr, adopted son of Aaron Burr, died this morning at his residence on West 129th street. He was born in Paris in 1808, and was a son of Count Verdi de Lisle.

Quite a number of people are fatally affected by the heat in this city and Brooklyn and neighboring places, last night being little relief.

Cooper's Opinion of the Situation.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28.—Senator Thomas V. Cooper, chairman of the republican state committee, says the reply of the independents does not change the situation as it merely reduces to a formality the rejection of the propositions submitted by regulars. He thought the independent movement had lost its strength among the republican masses, and predicted the stalwart and independent tickets will poll less votes than the Armstrong (labor) ticket, the probable strength of which he placed at something over 30,000.

Fast Time.

CHICAGO, July 28.—A train of 20 cars of tea and silk left San Francisco July 12th, left Deming at 8 A. M. July 6th and arrived at Kansas City at 4 A. M. on the 19th, making the run from San Francisco to Kansas City in six days and six hours and from Deming to Kansas City over the A. T. & S. F. road, 1150 miles, in 60 hours. This freight was destined part for Chicago and part for Detroit and New York. A second train of 29 cars left San Francisco 24 hours later and made the same time to Kansas City. This time is believed to be unprecedented.

The Week's Failures.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Failures of the week reported to New York [illegible] a slight reduction from last week. Of these the eastern states furnished 18, western 30, southern 19, middle 2, Pacific states and territories 8, and New York city 5. The only failure of note in New York city is that of W. J. Wilcox & Co., lard, with liabilities unsecured of about $110,000. The probability is they will pay in full, half cash and balance on time. A new concern will be organized.

Military Wedding.

CHICAGO, July 28.—At the suburb of Elmhurst last evening Lieut. J. Thompson, son of Professor Thompson, one of the teachers at West Point, was married to Miss Juliet Hagans, daughter of Judge W. H. Hagans, of Cincinnati, who has his summer residence at Elmhurst. Lieut. Thompson was a member of the class of West Point and has been assigned to the 3d U. S. artillery. Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, July 28.—In the lords yesterday the arrears of rent bill passed its second reading.

In the commons the home secretary refused to answer questions relative to the arrest of O'Brien in Venezuela for connection with the murder of Lord Cavendish and Burke, on the ground that it would be inconsistent with public interest.

Gladstone, before a vote of credit was taken in the commons last night, said that nothing has happened to affect the duty of the government to press a vote in connection with the acceptance by the porte of intervention in Egypt.

In commons this afternoon Gladstone, amidst cheers, read extracts from instructions forwarded to Lord Dufferin, British ambassador at Constantinople, after the cabinet meeting yesterday, saying that England was glad of the co-operation of any power but calling upon the sultan to state the date for dispatch of troops and before they are despatched to issue a proclamation upholding Tewfik, the khedive, and denouncing Arabi Pasha as a rebel.

Gladstone said that communications were still passing with Italy regarding her co-operation and added that a communication had just been received from Musurus Pasha, Turkish ambassador at London, announcing that the sultan would send troops immediately. The communication from Musurus Pasha contained no reference to the proclamation of Arabi Pasha as a rebel. The communication will not interfere with proceedings of the conference.

The under foreign secretary stated a telegram had been received from Cartwright, consul general at Alexandria, which alluded to indirect communication by Arabi Pasha with a view to surrendering the military party, but there had been no direct communication from Arabi Pasha so far. The report was that Arabi offers to retire to a Mussulman monastery in Syria with his colleagues, for whom he asks the same terms. They are Toulba Pasha, Ali Fehmy, Abdallah Pasha and Mahmoud Pasha. An armed engine dispatched by the British was sent to meet Raouf Pasha and two ulemas to discuss this proposal. It is stated the government has received no confirmation of this news.

In commons to-day the motion for credit was carried by 275 to 29.

Gladstone, in speaking of Egyptian affairs, stated that Lord Dufferin had been instructed to inquire as to the number of troops the sultan proposes to send to Egypt and in regard to their proposed disposition.

Lord Granville, foreign secretary, stated that communication had taken place with Arabi Pasha during the last few days, but he was bound to say there was nothing in them which the government could rely on or which would justify them in relaxing present preparations.

Notes from Dublin.

DUBLIN, July 28.—From information gleaned here it appears that Westgate or O'Brien, the man arrested in Venezuela on his confession that he was concerned in the Phoenix park murders, is a Scotch man. On the day of the tragedy he sailed from Northwall for Swansea at 7:40 P. M., or ten minutes before the tragedy occurred, consequently he could not be one of the assassins. Some of his friends were with him at Northwall an hour before the vessel sailed. The authorities here are confident that Westgate is innocent. It is thought detectives will probably have to be sent to bring him to Ireland in order to satisfy public feeling.

A desperate but unsuccessful attempt was made to-day to assassinate the recorder of Dublin at Greene street courthouse. A tailor named Fitzpatrick, non-suited as plaintiff in a civil bill, fired at the recorder with a revolver in open court, but fortunately was seized by the defendant and a police man.

Relative to the offer of the Canadian government to bond to Irish emigrants, the chief secretary for Ireland states that parliament and the lord lieutenant of Ireland were in communication with the Canadian office in regard to emigration to Canada. He said he would not be able to give full information on the subject until the arrears of rent bill passed parliament.

Minister Marsh's Funeral.

ROME, July 28.—The body of George P. Marsh, American minister, arrived at Pontassi this evening. At the railway station this morning it was received by the mayor and principal inhabitants. The United States charge d'affaires thanked the spectators for their touching reception of the remains. The body was then escorted to the Protestant cemetery by a procession composed as follows: Troops, cavalry, municipality, members of prefecture in carriages, funeral car, members of American legation, Italian ministry, high functionaries of various departments, representatives of Germany, England, France, Austria, Turkey, Spain, Japan, representatives of court and another troop of cavalry. There were five garlands of flowers on the coffin. The whole American colony were present. The coffin was covered by an American flag and deposited in the mortuary chapel at the cemetery, pending burial of the remains in the cemetery in September. No addresses were delivered. The widow will continue to reside in Italy.

The Canadian Parliament Rebuked.

LONDON, July 28.—The Times, commenting on the address of the Canadian parliament to the queen in favor of home rule for Ireland, says: "The respectful phrases in which the address is couched cannot blind anyone to the fact it amounts to a vote of censure of the government and encouragement of its avowed enemies. We are at a loss to determine whether under the circumstances the address is simply a dodge to catch the Irish vote, which ought to be regarded as an aggravation, or excuse the offense. If a more charitable view be taken it condemns the Canadian parliament as guilty of levity, a thought which must seriously detract from the value of any opinion it may form."

Miss Anna Parnell Seriously Ill.

DUBLIN, July 28.—Anna Parnell is dangerously ill of brain fever, brought on by news of the sudden death of her sister Fanny. She does not recognize anyone. The doctor entertains slight hope of her recovery. Charles S. Parnell, her brother, has been telegraphed for.

All Hope Abandoned.

LONDON, July 28.—Gladstone informed parliament yesterday that the government has abandoned all hope of passing the corrupt practices bill this session.

In League with Nihilists.

VIENNA, July 28.—A telegram from Bucharest reports that a son of one of the Russian consuls in Roumania has been arrested at Odessa on a charge of supplying dynamite to nihilists.

CRIMINAL NOTES.

Bookkeeper Absconded.

CHICAGO, July 28.—John Haper, a young English man for years in the employ of Benj. Allin & Co., jewelers on State street, has absconded with about $3000 shortage. He was chief book-keeper and the firm trusted him implicitly. He had lost sight of one eye. His stealings began when he seemed likely to lose the sight of the other. It is supposed that he has gone to England where his sister lives.

A Criminal Gives Himself Up.

B. F. Biglow, former receiving Teller of the National Bank of the Republic at Washington, was arrested this morning at Port Huron. He is alleged short $25,000 since July, 1873. He has been going from place to place and gave himself up to avoid bother.

General Raw.

GALVESTON, July 28.—Mexican Frank, a mulatto, is reported lynched for killing Deputy Sheriff McCulloch at Oakeala, near Ferendez. In a fight two Mexicans were killed by a crowd of Americans.

Hanged.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 28.—At 1:07 the drop fell for Isaac Turner. Execution private. He was hung for killing the Rev. [illegible], colored.

WEST INDIES.

A Murderer's Confession.

NEW YORK, July 28.—Herald's St. Thomas: The assassin of Lord Frederick Cavendish, who was arrested at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela, gives his name as W. Westgate. He was arrested on the 1th inst. By his own confession he shipped on the 8th of May under the name of O'Brien on the British bark Gladstone from Swansea to Cara. He says he left Dublin on the night of the 6th of May by steamer to Swansea, and the names of those of his accomplices and other details of the murder were taken by [illegible] before the British consul. He says he was employed by O'C [illegible] The persons who have seen the man give credence to his confession. In appearance the man is tall and slender. He says the price of the deed was £20 [illegible] He said £10 was worth more to an Irishman than to an Englishman [illegible] that the Venezuelan government will surrender him although there is no extradition treaty. The foreign office has been telegraphically communicated with.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The River and Harbor Bill to be Vetoed.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—[illegible] the president will veto the river and harbor bill [illegible] will recommend the number of extravagant [illegible] It is asserted that the president will recommend passage of a bill appropriating about $10,000,000, conferring authority upon the secretary of war to expend the money on [illegible] works as he may think most advisable [illegible] An illustration of the [illegible] and in the assertion that among the items in the bill which meet with his disapproval is the appropriation for improvement of the Sacramento and Feather rivers [illegible] but that the proposed improvement will benefit the mining interests and not navigation.

A Veto Probable.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—[illegible] the river and harbor bill [illegible] Tremendous influence has been brought to bear on the president to approve the bill and the same influence has been extended to the cabinet, but apparently without avail. Senator McMillan and Representative Page, chairmen of committees of commerce of senate and house, had two interviews with the president to-day, neither of which were satisfactory to them. A republican member of congress from Ohio was informed by the president to-day that he would veto the bill on the ground that the amount appropriated was too large [illegible] injudiciously expended during the current fiscal year.

Legal Notes.

On the 23d of last March the steamship [illegible], owned by the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, grounded on the rocks near Point Lobos and was assisted by tugboats owned by Millen Griffith, Charles Goodall and Edwin Goodall. A controversy having arisen between the owners of the Columbia and the owners of the tugboats as to the value of services performed by the latter, the parties in interest have agreed to leave the matter to Oliver Eldridge, Robert H. Waterman and Southard Hoffman as arbitrators. A document filed in superior court to-day signed by the respective owners states that the award of arbitrators shall be final and entered as court judgment. Report is to be made on or before Aug. 1st.

Judge Hunt this morning in the case of Ellen M. Colton vs. Leland Stanford, C. P. Huntington, Chas. Crocker and Wells Fargo & Co. denied the motion of defendants to strike out parts of the complaint for want of prosecution.

Washington Notes.

Charles W. Ellsber, principal reading clerk of the house, was prostrated by the heat while ascending the stairs of the capitol this morning. His condition is critical.

The cabinet meeting did not adjourn till 3:30 o'clock. Consideration of the river and harbor bill was not completed. A special meeting will be held to-morrow morning to consider the subject further.

Star Route Trials.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Rosenberg's testimony was found not admissible under ruling of the court and only ex-Senator Spencer's testimony remains for the government. Ingersoll opened for defense with a request to further examine Walsh but the court refused and adjourned until Monday at request of Ingersoll.

Official Absconded.

The superintendent of the house document rooms, John R. Popham, of Virginia, a readjuster, has absconded. He is accused of having forged the name of his old friend Judge Hughes of the U. S. circuit court of Virginia to a $2000 check.

THE TURF.

Cleveland Races.

CLEVELAND, July 28.—Pleasant weather, fine track and very large attendance. The principal interest centered in the special race, which for two heats was a remarkably stubborn contest between Clingstone and Edwin Thorn, the latter's [illegible] being lapped in the wire to wire creating intense excitement. The exertion was too much for Thorn and Clingstone won the deciding heat with the greatest ease, jogging the last half mile. Average time of 28 heats trotted at this meeting is 2:19¾ and average of 11 pacing heats less than 2:19.

SPORTING NOTES.

Will Not Row.

LONDON, July 28.—The amateur rowing association has decided the crews of the Thames and London clubs shall not be allowed to row against the Hillsdale crew in the Barnes and Mortlake regatta Saturday.

The Hillsdale Crew Withdrawn.

LONDON, July 28.—The Hillsdale crew have withdrawn their entry for the Barnes and Mortlake races on account of the Thames and London clubs refusing to row. The committee of the regatta has not [illegible] its decision in regard to acceptance of the Hillsdales entry and would have started a general [illegible] crew, but the Hillsdales preferred to withdraw.

A Scathing Rebuke.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The Spirit of the Times says editorially: "It is a pity people who have been unable to decide whether the Henley highwaymen and English Amateur Rowing Association are altogether knaves or part knaves and part fools, will have no further doubt. On point of order raised by Hale and Rollins the chair ruled that all amendments made by senate committee changing house general legislation were out of order on appropriation bills.

Call appealed, but senate refused to sustain appeal. In the vote sustaining the ruling of chairman [illegible] amendment dividing [illegible] list into three classes was not in order, the Pacific coast senators recorded were Farley, Jones, Miller, and Slater, and all voted in the negative.

The committee amendment dividing the 140 surgeons [illegible] list into three classes was then ruled out of order by the chair and decision sustained by the senate.

The delinquent tax list of Umatilla county amounts to $8,[illegible]. The tax levy of the last year amounted to $[illegible]. The sheriff's fees for the year ending July 1st were $[illegible]

Harvesting is in progress in Haystack valley. The crop is light owing to dry weather and grass hoppers. The fruit yield will also be poor with the exception of grapes. They thrive there and will produce well this season as usual.

The Monumental Mine has been sold. The deed was received for record at the county clerk's office at Canyon City a few days since. It sets forth that in consideration of $1, C. S. Miller, trustee, has sold to the Eastern Oregon Gold and Silver Mining Company of New York city all the property of the Monumental Company. What the new company intends to do with their purchase has not transpired.

The new coal mine in Umatilla county is situated at the headwaters of Butter creek. It is now being worked by Brown, Sparks and Squires. The vein was struck on the side of a hill 300 feet elevation above the waters of Butter creek. The drift is now about 25 feet long and 12 or 15 feet wide and the vein of coal fully 1½ feet thick. The casing above the coal as well as below it is 30 inches thick. The quality of the coal is pronounced by blacksmiths to be superior to Cumberland coal. Joel Thrasher's mine is about one half mile north of this mine and although not prospected quite so well, yet bids fair to open into a good paying lead. The Thrasher mine was discovered about one year ago by the coal cropping out along the water course of the creek. The indications all through this region are indicative of immense coal fields. Sandstone ridges and slate croppings are to be seen in most every direction. Capital is all that is necessary to develop this industry.

John Wiser, a resident of Benton county for the past 30 years, died near Yaquina on the 16th, aged 85 years.

A. J. Hamilton's splendid pear and cherry orchard at Beaverton is almost if not totally ruined by the sling worm.

A lodge of Good Templars with 22 charter members was organized at Brooks station on the 27th by C. V. Settlemeier.

Thomas M. Cochran, a resident of Yamhill county since 1852, died at his home near Amity on the 3d inst., aged 71 years.

There will be two Lutheran German churches built in Washington county this fall, one at Hillsboro and the other three miles south of Cornelius.

There have been four deaths from diphtheria near Corvallis during the last week. The disease is confined to two families and every precaution is taken to prevent its spread.

There have been five fires and one false alarm in Albany during the past year. The entire losses entailed were less than $4000. During the same period the necessary expenses of the department aggregated $470.

The clearing and deepening of the Santiam canal will shortly be completed. The sediment being removed from that portion of the ditch which runs down Vine street, Albany, has been seven years in accumulating.

A campmeeting is in progress at Sodaville. It began and will continue until the 1st of August. Last Sabbath we are informed there were over 3000 people there and next Sabbath it is anticipated the crowd will be still larger.

The road leading from Alsea to Monroe has been graded around what is termed the big canyon, that being the worst part of the road, and after harvest it is the intention of the people of Alsea valley to commence at the west end of the road and put it through.

The committee appointed to procure a steam engine for the city of Salem has telegraphed the Silsby engine company of Seneca Falls, New York, to send them a fourth size first class engine as soon as possible. The steamer will arrive in about six weeks and will cost, including the freight, $4000.

Washington Territory.

The pontoon bridge across the Puyallup river is completed and open for travel free to all.

Many of the horses about Seattle, and in fact all over the Sound, are suffering with a sort of cold accompanied with coughing, and called epizootic.

Chas. Spinning, of Puyallup, has sold 6000 pounds of his incoming hop crop at 30 cents a pound and receives 10 cents a pound advance to bind the bargain.

The recent school census of Seattle shows in that district 1372 children, over 4 and under 21 years, 481 under 4 years, 12 away to school elsewhere. This gives a total of 1877 children in the district.

Farmers in the vicinity of Walla Walla are having a hard time securing harvest hands. Men are very scarce and are demanding $3 per day, refusing to work for a less sum. They have the scale in their favor and are compelling their employers to come to their terms.

Chas. F. Clancey, of Seattle, received by the S. L. Mastick two full-blooded Esquimaux pups from Alaska. They are about three months old and of a grayish color. In appearance they resemble wolves more than dogs. Mr. Clancey will train them to work in harness and as soon as they are old enough will have a little carriage made to be drawn by them.

Tacoma Ledger: Twenty two of the hop growers of the Puyallup valley have signed an article to increase the price of hop picking from 75 cents to $1 a box. This combination will represent over two-thirds of the area of the valley, and there is no doubt but all will be compelled to advance the price. The following is the inside measure of the hop boxes adopted: Length of bottom 4 feet 4 inches; length of top 5 feet 10 inches; width of top, 2 feet 10 inches; width of bottom, 1 foot 4 inches.

The work of raising the new and enlarged frame of Hanson & Co.'s mill at New Tacoma is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Already about one-third of the frame is up and the roof—which consists of corrugated iron, which will make it fire as well as water proof—is on. When completed it will be as large as any mill on the coast. It will be 355 feet long by 80 feet wide and will run two head circular saws, two edgers or re-saws and two new gang saws. The mill company has already completed a new machine and blacksmith shop and have every means at hand to make a first class mill. When completed the capacity will be double what it is at present, which is 100,000 feet per day.

There are 187 persons in the Silver City school district over 5 and under 21 years of age.

Judge W. D. Farris, of Boise City, was accidentally shot in the face with bird shot on Sunday last by a young man named Boone, while hunting birds on Dry creek about 18 miles from Boise. The wounds though painful are not serious.

Miss Ida Paul, accompanied by her mother, was riding after cattle near Silver City on the 17th inst. when her horse fell, throwing her violently to the ground. She sustained injuries that rendered her unconscious for some days, but her physician has hopes of her recovery. Her mother was forced to leave her alone on the prairie while she rode for assistance.

The Situation at Port Said Growing More Alarming.

ARABI WILL FIGHT ALL TURKISH TROOPS SENT TO EGYPT

The French said to have been in Correspondence with Arabi Pasha—The Aboukir Forts to be Bombarded.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

PORT SAID, July 28.—Arabi Pasha having sent for the assistant governor, the latter applied to Rear Admiral Hastings for protection and took refuge on the steamer. When Arabi learned that he ordered the commander of the troops to take the assistant governor's place. Thereupon the governor became alarmed and also took refuge on the steamer. A telegram from Arabi's under secretary of war at Cairo stated as the governor had gone on board English ship the commander of the troops would be held responsible for order pending the appointment of a new governor. The commander of troops is known to have said after the bombardment of Alexandria that he was awaiting orders to fire Port Said. The attitude of natives towards Europeans continues most insulting. Soldiers are making threats. The vessels now in the harbor are as follows: 5 British, 4 French, 1 Greek, 1 Spanish, 1 German and 1 Italian. Night before last the inhabitants of the Arab village, headed by fanatical priests, attempted to enter the European portion of town, but were repulsed by military. The following day the French consul applied to Admiral Conrad for protection for French subjects. The French Admiral subsequently asked Rear Admiral Haskins to make joint occupation to preserve order and this arrangement was made for last night when DeLesseps suddenly returned from Ismailia. A violent scene occurred between him and representatives of the French colony. DeLesseps still considered Port Said as his property and the consul was a fool for asking for occupation; that it was playing into the hands of England to do so; and that there was no danger as he had a guarantee of safety for French subjects from officers commanding the Arab troops. When everything was ready for landing the French Admiral was requested to carry out his part of the arrangement. DeLesseps visited the governor and assistant governor, who were still on board the Mongolia, and Rear Admiral Haskins, but failed to bring them to his views. Reinforcements are arriving every night from Fort Ghernil. The governor considers delay in occupying the town will be fatal, as Arabs are becoming stronger. The British corvette Orion has arrived bringing instructions which completely modify the situation here. DeLesseps protested against her entering the canal, but she entered without paying dues.

Alexandria Notes.

ALEXANDRIA, July 28.—Following is the brief verdict of Admiral Nicholson on the bombardment: "We don't mind admitting, sir, that we could not duplicate that lot."

The pilot engine preceding the one sent with officers to meet Raouf Pasha came to grief near Mahalla, Arabi Pasha having cut the line during the night.

Admiral Seymour, having written the khedive asking what measures he would suggest with regard to the Aboukir forts which the admiral said were a standing danger to the British position at Ramleh, the khedive replied that he had sent Vice Admiral Acamani to summon the garrison to return to loyalty. That in the event of a refusal he would leave the measures to the admiral's discretion. If the garrison does not surrender it is believed they will be bombarded Monday.

A criminal sentenced to death by a native tribunal yesterday was executed to-day. He was chained between men sentenced to be flogged for shooting and conducted through town. A party of natives were selected to do the shooting. The procession was headed by a crier, who announced that the condemned man had been convicted of murdering Europeans. He was shot outside the gates.

Feligate, a native orator who aided in inciting massacres and has hitherto been hiding in town, was arrested to-day.

A deputation from Kafr el Dwar arrived to-day, and will be given immediate audience.

A strong expedition will start this evening to seize and occupy a position on the railway within two miles of the Arab camp.

Turkish Intervention.

LONDON, July 28.—Reports are circulated on the stock exchange that Arabi has declared he will not resist Turkish troops if they operate without European auxiliaries and that Austria and Germany have also reverted to the plan of exclusive Turkish intervention.

LONDON, July 28, 1:30 P. M.—The Standard, in an editorial just issued, says to the time of going to press no information with regard to Arabi Pasha's offer has been received by the government from Alexandria. There will be no cessation of military preparations as it is thought Arabi Pasha's offer may be only to gain time.

Untruthful Rumors.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 28.—The rumors that Arabi Pasha has declared he would resist Turkish forces are untrue. He has renewed his assurance of fidelity to the sultan and at a meeting of the conference yesterday, Lord Dufferin, British ambassador, renewed his proposal for the issue of a proclamation declaring Arabi Pasha a rebel. Said Pasha, Turkish prime minister, thought that such a proclamation should not be issued until Turkish troops landed in Egypt.

Americans of Service.

Lord Charles Beresford states that without the assistance of American marines he would have been unable to discharge the numerous duties of suppressing fires and preventing looting, burying dead and clearing streets.

The Porte's Hope.

At a sitting of the conference yesterday the porte, while consenting to send troops to Egypt, tamely expressed the hope that England would with draw her forces from that country.

Arabi's Tricks.

ALEXANDRIA, July 28.—A loyal native just from Cairo says numbers of helmeted natives in European clothes were paraded through the streets as captured British.

War Notes.

ALEXANDRIA, July 28.—The Inflexible has gone to summon the Aboukir forts to surrender and bombard them if they do not.

LATER.—The bombardment of Aboukir has been postponed.

The Quinnebaug alone remains of the American squadron. Lord Charles Beresford acknowledges the immense services so generously rendered by American marines.

Very important seizures have been made of secret correspondence prior to the bombardment between the military party and French officials. The correspondence is said to prove incontestably the military party was surely supported by the French.

Water in the canal continues to fall at such a rate the city and troops in a week will be entirely dependent on wells, cisterns and condensers.

HONORED AND BLEST.

When a board of eminent physicians and chemists announced the discovery that by combining some well known valuable remedies, the most wonderful medicine was produced, which would cure such a wide range of diseases that most all other remedies could be dispensed with, many were skeptical; but proof of its merits by actual trial has dispelled all doubt, and to-day the discoverers of that great medicine, Hop Bitters, are honored and blessed by all as benefactors.—Democrat.

Suicides.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Nicholas Peters, a German saloon keeper, committed suicide in the rear of his place of business this morning by shooting himself through the head. Cause, financial trouble.

GRIMES LANDING, July 28.—L. B. Tucker, of this place, who has been totally blind for eight months, committed suicide last night by cutting his throat. He is the third brother to commit suicide.

The Sachs Trouble.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The Chronicle this morning publishes a scandal in connection with the Sachs family difficulty, to the effect that the trouble was caused by Saml. C. Cook, of Los Angeles, who in revenge for the refusal of Sachs to loan him money to pay a gambling debt spread stories of his own intimacy with Mrs. Sachs. This led to a preliminary row between Sachs and his wife, in which the husband beat his wife and then went to Cook's lodgings and powering him with a revolver gave him an unmerciful thrashing and subsequently shot Mrs. Sachs as heretofore reported.

Railroad Elections.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—At a meeting of stockholders of the Los Angeles and San Diego Railroad Co., last night Leland Stanford, Charles F. Crocker, N. T. Smith, J. L. Willcutt and E. H. Miller Jr. were elected directors and at a meeting of directors the following officers were elected: Charles Crocker, president; Charles F. Crocker, vice president; N. T. Smith, treasurer; J. L. Willcutt, secretary.

Monterey Railroad Co. elected as directors Chas. Crocker, Chas. F. Crocker, W. V. Huntington, N. T. Smith, J. L. Willcutt. At a meeting of directors the following officers were elected: Chas. Crocker, president; Chas. F. Crocker, vice president; N. T. Smith, treasurer; J. L. Willcutt, secretary.

The Chinese Influx.

The coolies landed by the Triumph yesterday make a total of 5,837 mongolians that have arrived in this city by vessel since January 1st, according to the records. The Arabic brought 1254, the greatest number of any one steamer. Of all the tramps the Canapus brought the most, 1035; the Anerly brought the fewest, 109. The Belgic and Gaelic have each made three trips this year, and the Oceanic and City of Tokio two apiece thus far. The average monthly arrivals have been about 4500. There is a chance that more vessels may arrive before August 4th.

Red Men Election.

The Great Council of the Improved order of Red Men have elected the following officers: J. A. Filcher, great prophet; Charles Spencer, great sachem; Mr. Betz, great senior sagamore; A. A. Andrews, great junior sagamore; H. S. Winn, great chief of records; Adam Smith, great keeper of wampum; Grove L. Johnson, representative to the great council of the U. S.; Benj. F. Josselyn, Davis Louderback and John P. H. Wentworth, great trustees.

Decision Reversed.

The supreme court has reversed the judgment of the lower court in the case of Clarence Gray, convicted of the murder of Theodore Glancey, editor of the Santa Barbara Press, and granted defendant a new trial on the ground that the jury were too liberally supplied with beer and liquor during progress of the trial.

Shipping Notes.

The steamer Iroquois of the U. S. navy, left for Panama to-day. She is in good order, all the damages which she sustained during her recent trip to Mare Island having been repaired. She is shorthanded and has aboard only about half her usual complement of men. She will proceed immediately to Panama, where she expects to obtain men who have been sent from New York. She will then join the Asiatic squadron.

The measurer of hulls from the custom house has completed the measurement of the Triumph, and she was found to have complied with the law, both in regard to her berths and number of passengers carried. She is expected to leave soon for Portland.

IDAHO.

A Printer Missing.

BOISE CITY, July 28.—John Huston, a printer, formerly of Boise, and a man well known in every territorial newspaper office, suddenly disappeared from this city on the morning of the 4th of July. He came here from Wood river and had several hundred dollars in his possession and his disappearance has caused considerable alarm among his friends. It is thought he may be in San Francisco or Portland.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Seattle Notes.

SEATTLE, July 28.—The hop growers of Puyallup have resolved to raise the price of picking this year to $1 per box as an inducement to Indians to come from the furthest points of the territory and British Columbia. The Indians have heretofore done all the picking, but never got above 75 cents per bushel. The crop of 1882 will be the largest and best yet produced and in Puyallup valley will exceed 750,000 pounds. Buyers are already offering 30 cents per pound for the new crop.

Bids were opened here this evening by the city council for the largest job of street work ever offered in this place. A Chinese firm were the lowest bidders, their offer amounting to about $30,000 against about $35,000 bid by white men.

A New Signal Service Law.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 27.—A private dispatch from Washington to Dr. T. T. Minor of this place announces that the Cape Flattery signal service telegraph line will be at once constructed. The material was ordered shipped yesterday by Gen. Hazen. This line will run from Port Angeles to Tatoosh Island, off Cape Flattery.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Victoria Notes.

VICTORIA, July 22.—Returns from nine districts show that the opposition gain. They have carried off eight seats formerly held by government, and the probability is that government is defeated by a heavy majority.

Recent rains that have fallen have improved the crop prospects. Reports from Takou are not encouraging. The season has been wet and the mining results small.

THE FREIGHT SITUATION.

Now that we have assurance of a fair wheat crop the question of tonnage is the most interesting and the most important to the farmer. The rates of tonnage upon which the price of grain here very greatly depends, is of course, regulated by the conditions of supply and the demand, and at this early date these conditions cannot be estimated with even an approach to exactness. Any estimate beyond two months ahead or three at most, would be nothing more than a wild guess and would have no more value. The facts of the situation so far as known are as follows: The total tons register now in the Columbia and Willamette rivers, disengaged and suitable for wheat, is 14,900 tons register. The American iron bark Annie Johnson, chartered yesterday, is included in these figures. On the lists for July-August arrival we find 3258 tons register, and for August September arrival, 5000 tons register. The situation at San Francisco on the 5th instant was reported as follows: On the berth for Europe, 21,175 tons; disengaged and suitable for wheat, 41,091 tons; listed for miscellaneous business, 1461 tons; reported as bound for California, 293,440 tons; visible supply of registered tonnage, 357,167. As it is impossible to know yet how much tonnage will turn toward the coast during the next six months, or how much we shall need, it is not possible to figure very accurately on the much talked-of "tonnage problem;" but it may be said in general terms that the entire supply of shipping now in sight will not carry more than about one-half of the probable surplus of the coast. A repetition of the high freight rate of the past two years is not probable, nor will rates be as low as for the season preceding them. While the situation is not in the hands of ship-holders, as it was last season, it affords them a basis for a stiff front and they will not fail to profit by it. An engagement effected yesterday, that of the Annie Johnson by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., for Liverpool direct, at 65s, shows the temper of the situation. True, this is for salmon, which can afford a higher rate than wheat, but it is higher than expected and was a surprise to shippers thoroughly familiar with all the circumstances of the situation.

It is difficult to realize how great is the sum which Oregon pays annually for charters. The one hundred and fifty-nine vessels which our exporters dispatched to Europe during the season just closed, cost in charter rates, $4,410,000. The highest charter was 92s 6d, the lowest 47s 6d, and the average 75s. Only the wonderful productiveness of our fields maintains this enormous drain.

CANNED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

It was erroneously stated in our columns two or three days since that the Lovejoy fruit cannery, in this city, was doing nothing in the way of putting up vegetables. We learn on the contrary, that it is canning corn, peas, beans and tomatoes in large quantities and to some extent, also has been canning salmon and meats. It is prepared to put up every kind of hermetically sealed goods, and its annual product is large. The goods are equal to any in their line. But it is a habit with Oregon not to patronize and encourage her own industries. These goods of the Oregon Fruit Packing Company are shipped in large quantities to San Francisco, receiving the labels of packing establishments there, and are then returned here, sold and consumed. Dealers here hesitate to put them on the market direct from the cannery, but after they have been carried to San Francisco and back—having received meantime the brands and labels of packing houses there—they will sell here without question. Offered as an Oregon product, they would be neglected by those who will readily buy and consume them when they bear the California mark, and never know the difference. It is this fashion of neglecting and decrying our own products that makes the starting of productive industries here so very difficult. Under the foolish and unjust notion that everything Oregon makes must be of inferior quality, consumers not only subject themselves to impositions, but discredit industries that would contribute immensely to the credit and prosperity of the state. We shall all be glad to see the Oregon Fruit Packing Company an efficient agent in overcoming this absurd, unjust and injurious prejudice against goods of Oregon production.

A PROSPEROUS SETTLEMENT.

Among the more distinct localities tributary to Portland, no one is less known or more important than that of the Cowlitz. It has been settled in great for many years, and within the last two or three years has progressed with wonderful rapidity. Indeed, its trade with Portland for the year ended May 31st last was more than seventy-five per cent. greater than for the preceding year, and the current year promises to maintain the proportion of growth. Connection with Portland is by means of the river steamers Toledo and Kellogg, which, running on alternate days, make daily trips. Messrs. Joseph Kellogg & Son make the following statement of the business done by them during the twelve months ended last May: [illegible]

Number of passengers carried	11,830
Freight shipped [illegible]	[illegible]
[illegible]	[illegible]
To Cowlitz [illegible]	[illegible]
Lumber shipped (feet)	10,285
Shingles shipped	1,638,000
[illegible] (feet)	5,360,500
Piling (feet)	13,820,206
[illegible]	1,861,132

This section deals directly and solely with Portland, although it has facilities for seeking two other markets. The river always open way to Astoria, which is almost as near as this city, while the N. P. road gives easy access to the sound. The region is prosperous in every way, and affords good school and church privileges. There is much good land still open to settlement. [illegible]

A good many American newspapers are taking trouble to themselves about "English oppression." They see England dealing roughly with semi-civilized and barbarous peoples in various parts of the world, and grieve to find the government of that great country so aggressive and so regardless of the rights of others. We should not be so easy to forget that England's world-wide commerce and the engagements which all these countries have made with her create claims and rights on her side also. Besides, it is to just such treatment as England is now according to Egypt that the world owes the spread of civilization. The fathers of the men to whom we owe the declaration of independence and the revolution and the constitution of this great union, brought hither the same spirit which marks the marvelous colonizing force of Saxon blood in every sphere. This continent has been redeemed from barbarism by it. That spirit survives here to-day and all the sentimental humanitarianism of truly good theorists cannot check its crushing force as exemplified year after year in our border troubles. It may be godless and it may be tyrannical, but it is also civilizing. The plow must cut its relentless furrows before the field can be ready for the seed which shall make grain and flowers appear where before only weeds and thistles flourished. The means employed by England are often harsh and inexorably destructive, but the results have been always beneficial to the world at large. She has crushed barbarism and lawlessness with an iron hand, but in the track of the blood she has shed spring [illegible], schools and churches. She may [illegible] ignored peoples, but it is the sub[illegible] oppression of [illegible] and [illegible] of despotism and ignorance [illegible] rational liberty follows [illegible] just as [illegible]

What is called the "parcels post" is just about to be introduced as a general system in England. It is a sort of package express business, managed by the government, by means of which packages of all sorts are to be forwarded and delivered, just as letters are. Something similar has been in operation some twelve years in Germany and Switzerland, but has been too much restricted by troublesome rules till lately, when important changes were made which caused the service to be generally adopted by the people. The Liverpool Post says: "If the government will only have the sense to take advantage of the experiments of these countries, London and Liverpool may soon be as well off for postal facilities as any German dorf or Swiss village. It is anticipated that the adoption of the system will be attended by extensive commercial changes. It will tend to the ruin of the small traders. Country shops will not thrive, the local draper will find his rival in some advertising London firm, and the postman will take the place of the omnipresent commercial traveler. It will all tend to centralization. In the larger cities it will favor fewer shops and vaster stores."

Judging from the utterances of leading educators, there is little doubt that the time will soon come when women will be admitted to our eastern colleges and universities on the same terms as men. The question of doing so is under consideration among the alumni of the university of the city of New York, and the prospect is said to be that the council will take it up at an early date. There is also a considerable party in favor of the admission of girls to the classes at Columbia college—an old and very conservative institution. Harvard and some others can take no steps as yet in this direction, because the endowments and bequests on which they are founded have been mostly made for the education of males. But Harvard must eventually find means of providing for the education of women, and so must every college and university which proposes to do its part towards filling the wants of the times. The leading schools in our Pacific states fully recognize the necessity of pursuing this policy in the matter of the education of women, and it will ere long find general acceptance in our all institutions of learning.

It has been discovered by some of our esteemed contemporaries that if THE OREGONIAN didn't use the telegraph it would be a poor newspaper. Here is a discovery indeed. What kind of newspaper would the New York Herald or the Chicago Tribune be without the use of the telegraph? "Denuded of its dispatches," says the Dalles Times "The OREGONIAN would be about the leanest skeleton of a journal published anywhere, and the people know it." It would, indeed, if it didn't use the telegraph, soon come to be thought almost as "lean" as the Dalles Times, the Portland Standard, or no newspaper at all. It begs to be excused from the imputation of having so little sense as to suppose that it could be a newspaper fit, it didn't have the news. It leaves that attempt to the able and enterprising journals above named, together with all the success that may attend it. Incidentally it may throw in the remark—equal in sagacity to that quoted in the Dalles paper—that it would be a poor horse that had no legs to go on, and a poor gun that had neither lock, stock nor barrel.

The doctors have had a spirited battle over Guiteau's brain, but it was mainly about points of professional etiquette and precedence, concerning which physicians seem to be quite as particular as the lords and ladies of a titled aristocracy. They agree, however, that the brain exhibits no such abnormal features as would indicate that the man was insane. But the public are not yet to be relieved from the discussion of the subject, since the assassin's cerebral remains are yet to undergo a microscopic examination, out of which may be evolved very small but sufficient points for the doctors to fight their battles on indefinitely in the dismal field of Guiteauism.

Italy has heavier iron-clads than any in the English fleet that bombarded Alexandria. The Inflexible has the heaviest armor of any vessel in the British navy, its plates, in thickness, from 16 to 24 inches. But the Italian ships Duilo and Dandolo have armor 22 inches thick throughout, making them on the whole more heavily armored than the Inflexible. Besides, the Italian government is building two ships which will have armor 36 inches thick, and will carry 100-ton guns, against the Inflexible's 81-ton guns.

Commutation of the sentence in the Powers case, reported to-day, was proper enough. In the long run it will prove better for the ends of justice than if the original sentence of the law were carried out. Governor Thayer states the principles by which he has been guided with clearness and propriety.

It is estimated by competent persons at Washington that it will take more than two thousand million dollars to pay the pensions authorized by recent laws. The sum is greater than the present national debt.

CARD.

EDITOR OREGONIAN—IN A RECENT ARTICLE in your paper it is said I am under arrest for a crime in which Jack Gerdes is said to be the injured party. While the arrest is true, it it is also said that it is mainly caused because I deposited $250 in the First National Bank soon after the alleged crime is said to have taken place. That the public may know the only excuse, for there is no cause for my arrest, allow me to say that after the pretended crime is said to have been committed I did not, as is said, deposit in any bank or elsewhere other than a very small sum—$65, which I earned by my business, and never a dollar in the First National Bank. I am entirely innocent of the alleged crime, and I say this not only in justice to my family and myself, but because the facts warrant it. Of course I have employed attorneys, Mendenhall & Steeves, to defend me, but this is not strange, as any one charged with crime has a right to employ competent attorneys. CHAS. HANSON, R.

OUR

RED LETTER SALE

Commences To-Day.

We have made substantial reductions in the prices of our Clothing, and to convince the most skeptical that we HAVE DONE SO, we invite them to inspect our stock and see for themselves. In RED INK we have marked our selling prices, which will show a reduction ranging from $2 50 to $5 per suit in both Men's and Boys' Clothing. This reduction applies to our entire stock of Clothing. A heavy Fall Stock, to arrive in the course of a few weeks, and lack of room for it, is our reason for reducing prices—thus enabling purchasers to procure reliable merchandise below the market price.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 29, 1882.

CITY.

TWO DWELLINGS BURNED.—About eight o'clock yesterday morning fire was discovered in a dwelling on Front street, between Mill and Montgomery. An alarm was turned in, but before any of the [illegible] arrived the flames had broken through a window and attacked the adjoining building, [illegible] dwelling house. The building in which [illegible] was occupied by Simon [illegible], [illegible] with his family have been absent [illegible] a week. [illegible] there was no sign of fire when [illegible] left for their work in the morning. [illegible] were plainly [illegible] on the floor and walls [illegible] of the rooms, and a large [illegible] which had contained oil, was found on the floor [illegible] and the furniture of both houses was [illegible] and the flames were extinguished, [illegible] the two sides and a portion of the roof of both buildings. The one [illegible] Mr. [illegible] was owned by Mr. [illegible] of Eugene City. His loss will be about $[illegible]. No insurance. The other dwelling was [illegible] Walter, whose loss may reach $1,500, [illegible]. His tenant, J. H. Morton, [illegible] his furniture, and was [illegible]. [illegible] furniture was covered by [illegible] in the Home Mutual and Commercial companies. [illegible] of the men rooming in the house [illegible] in the room adjoining his during the night and made an investigation, when he found the [illegible] of the basement open. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

THE JACOBSON CASE.—Referring to [illegible] in yesterday's OREGONIAN in regard to Jacobson, arrested [illegible] before Judge Deady on a charge of selling liquor to Indians, it should be stated that Mrs. Miller of Wasco county, was not the complaining witness against Jacobson. She was simply a witness in behalf of a Chinaman employed by [illegible], against whom Mrs. Jacobson had made a complaint [illegible], alleging the same offense. It is proper and just to say, also, that there were no words whatever between Mrs. Miller and the Jacobsons on conflict of testimony. Mrs. Miller's testimony was delivered on the trial of the Chinaman, who was promptly discharged on her statement. This was all she had to do with the matter. She bore herself as the lady that she is, and it would be injustice to her to let the statement pass, from reports of the case, that any [illegible] took place between her and other parties before the court.

[illegible] ACROSS THE RIVER.—The contract for the erection of the two-story brick building on the corner of Fourth and L streets for Mrs. Hawthorne, was yesterday awarded to the following mechanics: Carpenter work to Haines Bros.; brick work and plastering to Robinson & Stanley. Iron work will be cast at Frank Payne's foundry. The building will be 30x50, with two stores below and offices above, and will cost, when completed, $7400. Matthew Brand has ordered the lumber for his new blacksmith shop on the corner of J and Fifth. It will be twenty-five front by fifty feet deep. John Parker also contemplates building a large shop on his property, corner of J and L streets. Dennis Sullivan is having two two-story dwelling houses erected on Holladay avenue, which are nearly completed.

WHY DID HE SHOOT?—W. B. Cantrell and Wm. Woods met on Fourth street, near Pine, yesterday afternoon, and after a few words had passed between them, Cantrell drew a pistol, and pointing it toward the ground fired. Woods grappled with Cantrell and attempted to get the weapon, but in the struggle the cylinder was loosened and fell out. Both men were arrested by the police, but would give no explanation of the trouble, and Woods refused to make a complaint against Cantrell. Both men were required to give $25 bail on a charge of indiscriminate use of firearms. If they do not forfeit the bail, which is probable, there may be further developments in the police court to-day.

TICKET THIEF.—John Dilke was arraigned in Justice White's court, yesterday, on a charge of stealing a ticket to San Francisco from James Smith. The testimony showed that Dilke had claimed to be the person taking tickets on the dock for the Oregon, which sailed Thursday night, and Smith had given up his ticket to him. A moment later Smith discovered his mistake but Dilke was gone. He was found after having sold the ticket and got drunk on the proceeds. Justice White found him guilty, and fined him $50. The ticket was for a steerage passage, and hence only petty larceny.

LIBEL DISMISSED.—In the U. S. circuit court yesterday Judge Deady rendered his decision in the case of the British steamship Devonshire, libeled for having berths for Chinese passengers constructed contrary to law. Hon. [illegible] represented the government and [illegible] was counsel for the captain of the Devonshire. The decision made was on the exceptions taken by the defense to the libel. The exceptions were sustained and the libel dismissed on the ground that in the opinion of the court the statute in that particular did not apply to steamships.

LOW RATE ON FRUITS.—Much dissatisfaction having been expressed by the residents in the neighborhood of Lake Pend d'Oreille at the high price of green fruit, the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific companies determined to do their share towards relieving the complaints. Yesterday they issued a freight tariff on all kinds of fruit from Walla Walla to points on the Northern Pacific as far as Cabinet Landing, at one-fourth of regular rates. The tariff will be in effect during the remainder of the year.

FIGHTING FOR $10.—John Powers was arrested yesterday by Capt. Belcher in a saloon on the corner of First and Oak streets, where he had picked up from the floor a $10 gold piece belonging to Pat Harron, and refusing to give it up. When Harron persisted in asking for it Powers struck him a severe blow in the eye, cutting his face badly. At the police station the $10 was found on Powers after he had said he had not taken it and had no money of his own. He will be tried in the police court to-day.

BOXING WITHOUT GLOVES.—Sam. Harris and Michael Harrigan, were arrested by Constable Grant yesterday, while engaged in a fist fight on First street near Oak. They were taken to Justice Greene's court, where each preferred a charge of assault and battery against the other. Harris pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Harrigan pleaded not guilty, was tried, found guilty and sentenced the same as Harris. Both were unable to pay their fines and were committed to the county jail.

TWO MORE NIGHTS.—The Madison Square Company left for The Dalles yesterday morning and gave Hazel Kirke there last night. They return here by Sunday's boat, and give farewell performances Monday and Tuesday evenings, previous to their departure for Puget sound and San Francisco. The company throughout is made up of material of such rare excellence that too much praise can not be spoken. The closing performances merit and will no doubt have large audiences.

EAST PORTLAND TEACHERS.—The directors of school district No. 31, Holladay's addition, have appointed the following teachers for the coming term: Principal, Prof. Wm. Pratt; assistants, Miss Nettie Spencer, Miss Packard and Miss Gove. Prof. Pratt is a brother of Prof. I. W. Pratt, principal of the Harrison street school in this city, and comes well recommended from the east. Miss Spencer is a graduate of the agricultural college, Corvallis, and the assistants are all able teachers.

LADD'S LICENSE.—The case of Wm. S. Ladd and Wm. M. Ladd, arrested for non-payment of the city banking license, was called in the police court yesterday afternoon. A lengthy argument was heard upon both sides, lasting over two hours. City Attorney [illegible] W. Rice prosecuted and J. W. Whalley appeared for the defense. At the close Judge Moreland announced that he would take the case under advisement and render a decision as soon as possible.

NEW STREET CLEANER.—A. F. Murphy, a blacksmith of this city, has invented a street cleaner of very simple construction, to be operated during the muddy season when the sweeper cannot be used. It consists of two shares hinged at the center, and is handled in about the same manner as a plow, but is shaped like a harrow. It is not necessary to turn with it, as the center hinge allows the shares to be reversed. A patent has been applied for.

LITERARY AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.—The [illegible] Temperance Society will to-night give one of their enjoyable entertainments, to consist of a piano duet by Misses Blackwood and Maxwell, a reading by Miss Annie Knox, an address by Rev. Frederick R. Marvin, pastor of the Congregational church, a song by Prof. Bullock, recitation by Daisy Sharp, guitar solo by Miss Hathaway. The admission has been put at only ten cents.

I. O. G. F.—Esperance Council No. 14, composed of French residents, have installed the following officers for the ensuing term: P. C., [illegible]; [illegible], G. B. Fety; V. C., A. Salmon; S., B. Mantelli; [illegible], Mrs. A. Mato; T., C. Pater; M., C. A. Patrain; [illegible], J. Dronillat; W., A. Porta; [illegible], T. Manelet; [illegible], Mr. Gasket. The lodge meets the second and fourth Wednesdays in each month.

WRECKED.—F. W. Gillette, the real estate agent, has too much confidence in his buggy. He tied [illegible] business out on the Cornell road yesterday, and of course did not hitch the animal. It wasn't necessary; he was gentle as a lamb. When Mr. Gillette returned from the house to the road he found the horse all right, but his $350 phaeton was at the bottom of the gulch. W. W. Espy will hold an autopsy of the vehicle this morning.

CRICKET MATCH.—This afternoon a cricket game will be played on the South Portland grounds between the first eleven of the cricket club and a team [illegible] from base ball players, the latter to have [illegible], Bourne and one other cricketer. The [illegible] will leave New Market building at [illegible] o'clock, and wickets will be pitched at 3:30. Ladies are invited.

WILL REBUILD.—Mrs. Ellen Malarkey will soon commence laying a stone foundation on the site of the recent fire, and erect thereon a brick building 100 feet front by 90 deep. D. J. Malarkey & Co. will reopen this morning at No. 31 Front street, next door to Wadhams & Elliott.

CAMP MEETING.—A camp meeting for Powell's valley circuit will be held in the cedar grove near the old ground, commencing on Thursday, August [illegible], and continuing over Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to both ministers and laymen.

PLAT FILED.—Yesterday, Gustavus Burchard and wife filed with the county clerk a plat of the Burchard tract, bounded by S. U. North 20th and North [illegible] street. A portion of it is given to the city to be opened as streets.

MATCH AGAINST TIME.—It is understood that Mr. [illegible] have matched [illegible] for [illegible], which is [illegible] seconds faster than the fastest heat ever trotted in Oregon. The trial will take place at an early day.

WILL CARRY PETROLEUM.—The O. R. & N. Co. will carry on the freight boats of the lower river Columbia [illegible] petroleum of 110 degrees fire test, provided [illegible] marks are upon every package.

THE STEAMERS.—The State arrived [illegible] yesterday morning, left for Portland at [illegible] and arrived here at 9:35. The Oregon arrived down at [illegible] and went to sea at noon.

Drink up ye fools, Pfunder's Vichy.

SAVED FROM THE GALLOWS.

GOVERNOR THAYER SHOWS MERCY TO JOHN C. POWERS.

And Commutes the Death Sentence to Imprisonment for Life. Reasons Given for His Act of Clemency. Etc.

[illegible] yesterday [illegible] Governor Thayer's message commuting the death sentence of John C. Powers, sentenced to be hanged at [illegible] City, for the murder of [illegible], on the 4th of July, 1881, to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life. Following is the [illegible]:

STATE OF OREGON, EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Salem, July [illegible].

In the matter of the application for executive clemency in favor of J. C. Powers.

At the October term, 1881, of the circuit court for the county of Multnomah, Powers was tried and convicted of the crime of murder [illegible] Cornelius, and sentenced to death. [illegible] petitions have been presented to me in his behalf, containing in the aggregate, the names of [illegible] persons, representing the counties of Multnomah, [illegible], Clatsop, [illegible], and [illegible] of Washington territory. They contain the names of the prominent men in the [illegible] of the various localities from which they were [illegible]. In some of them a [illegible] commutation of the sentence to imprisonment for life, [illegible] all that reason. I have also received letters from prominent citizens residing in different parts of the state soliciting a change of the sentence, and have been advised by many others with whom I have consulted that it was a proper case for executive interference. One of the petitions received was signed by nearly all the members of the bar of the fourth judicial district. I have met a few parties who were opposed to any interference or commutation of the sentence, but I am fully satisfied that the sentiment of a great majority of the people of the state is against the execution of Powers, and that the petitions and letters referred to, as a general thing, express the honest convictions of the signers. These various petitions are more important from the fact that the circumstances of the homicide were widely known. The affair occurred at a celebration of the 4th of July in Portland, when a large number of persons were present, and was extensively published throughout the country. Consequently the people had a better knowledge of it than they generally do of such occurrences, and are able to petition more intelligently. Though I attach importance to petitions in all proper cases, the right of petition is secured to the people by the highest authority known to the government. It may be, and probably often is, abused, but it does not follow that petitions are to be ignored, for that would be destructive of the immunity itself; yet there should always be reasonable grounds upon which to found a petition. A governor, for instance, would not be justified in changing the sentence of the law pronounced by the court simply because the people requested it. A valid reason should be shown for so important an act, else it should be refused. In considering the subject of a pardon, the executive has no right, in my judgment, to review the law or evidence in the case for the purposes of ascertaining whether or not error has been committed in the conviction of the party. The court and jury constitute the tribunal to settle questions of that character, and their action in that matter is a finality, and is unimpeachable in this proceeding. The court and jury determine the law and the facts, and I must assume that their determination in this case has been correct, and that Powers was, in accordance with the law and evidence, rightfully and properly convicted of murder in the first degree, and that, by the laws of this state, he has forfeited his life. Still I think that the general circumstances which have occasioned the killing may be taken into consideration in an application for clemency, though I concede that an attempt to draw a distinction between cases in which parties have "purposely, and of deliberate and premeditated malice," killed people, appears like subtlety, a refinement that possibly should never be admitted where human life has, under such circumstances, been sacrificed. But, as a matter of fact, there may be a wide difference in cases, both in the manner of the killing and the circumstances and motives occasioning it. The assassin who lays in wait for his victim and stealthily murders him for his money is a greater culprit, morally, than he who, smarting under a sense of injury to himself or family, confronts the offender and slays him; yet the law might adjudge both acts offences of the same grade. It is claimed in this case, in the petitions and letters before mentioned, that a family difficulty had arisen between the deceased and Powers; that Powers had married his daughter; that they had children; that there had been a separation, and that Powers had become annoyed and exasperated on account of it; that the deceased was a powerful man physically; that on the day of the murder he had armed himself in expectation of a difficulty; that the two parties met in a street in the city of Portland; that a desperate encounter ensued in which both were actors and in which Powers was severely, and Cornelius mortally wounded, and upon these grounds substantially executive clemency is urged. I understand that Powers is a business man, has been engaged in getting out timber for several years; that he has been regarded as a person possessing a good deal of physical courage; has been somewhat addicted to drink, and has had some personal difficulties, but has not been regarded as a criminal. On the contrary, has been considered a man of reasonably fair character; one that has observed his contracts, paid his debts, and been honest in his dealings.

This application for clemency has been made at a time set for its hearing, and in pursuance of a regularly published notice. No counter-statement has been presented or opposition made to it other than as before stated, the question now to be determined is, whether the state can, consistently with its dignity, and the duty which it owes to its citizens, in maintaining order in the community, in protecting them in their rights, and in securing them in their person, afford to commute the sentence of death to that of imprisonment for life.

It involves a matter strictly between the commonwealth and Powers. No feelings of malice or vindictiveness can enter into it. If the lesser punishment will subserve the ends of justice, if it is adequate under the circumstances of the case, then it would be a great moral wrong to inflict the greater. It would be closing the door of mercy, a quality of our nature that is more refining and ennobling in its tendency than any other attribute we possess. It has been suggested with a degree of seriousness that there would be no objection to the commutation of Powers' sentence if any reasonable assurance could be given that he would be imprisoned during his natural life, but that the apprehension was so strong that he would at some future time be released, made it very necessary that he should be put to death. Of course I cannot consider any arguments of that character. I have no right to suppose that he will be relieved of his sentence unless circumstances should justify it. Besides, the question for me to determine is not one of expediency. I am obliged to decide it upon its merits, uninfluenced by anticipations of a possible neglect of duty upon the part of some future governor of the state. After a careful consideration of the various circumstances connected with the transaction, and through a respect for the opinions of the great number of persons who have urged the exercise of executive clemency in this matter, I have concluded to commute the sentence against Powers to imprisonment for life. And I base my action in the premises upon the grounds that the substituted punishment is sufficiently severe in this case to subserve the ends and purposes of justice.

Upon the question of a full pardon I deem it proper to state that I can see no grounds whatever upon which it could be granted. No one has a right to attempt to vindicate his wrongs, whether real or imaginary, by violent measures. Such a course would be subversive of law and order, and if not promptly checked would break up and destroy society itself. The jury has settled the question as to which party was the aggressor in the affair, and the degree of the offense, and while the general circumstances surrounding the transaction, that could not be taken into account by the jury, may, out of a regard for human life, justify a mitigation of the punishment, they should not be allowed to excuse the offence. Powers' conduct has been high-handed and unlawful, and if the rigor of the law is flexed by the spirit of mercy, still the claims of justice must not be disregarded. The sentence, in my judgment, should not be changed beyond the commutation mentioned.

W. W. THAYER,
Governor of Oregon.

HOW POWERS RECEIVED THE NEWS.

Shortly before noon Sheriff Sears entered Powers' cell and told him of the governor's action. The prisoner received the news with little visible emotion, but expressed unbounded gratitude to the governor, to the people who petitioned for his pardon, and to the officers of the court for uniform kindness. In conversation with an OREGONIAN reporter last night, he said he would rather die a hundred natural deaths than go to the penitentiary as a convict. He seemed very despondent for one who had just come out from under the shadow of the gallows, and except for the disgrace upon his children by reason of an ignominious death, seemed as willing to die by the hands of the law as to go to a lingering death in prison walls.

Before he is taken to the penitentiary he will have the bullet extracted from his face. It still gives him much pain, and the left side of his face feels as if paralyzed. The operation will likely be performed Monday.

CANADIAN SOCIETY ORGANIZED.—Thursday evening a mass meeting of Canadians was held at No. 52 North First street.—An audience of over fifty were in attendance. Representatives of several towns in Oregon came with lists bearing hundreds of names. Several speeches were made on the occasion, and the following gentlemen were elected by the assembly: Honorary president, Hon. F. X. Mathieu; president, F. S. Greenlee; vice president, David Gerard; secretary and treasurer, F. X. [illegible]; councilors, H. Picard, S. G. Meldrum, A. Seguin, A. Demor, [illegible]. This first move of the Canadian element in Oregon rallying together is an inauguration of progress. It is to be hoped that the next meeting, which will take place on the 15th of August, will be attended by a still larger audience.

EXPLANATORY CARD.

In the Telegram of the 28th inst. we published the card of "A Ticket Holder," in which he objects to having the thousand dollars divided into 50 twenty-dollar prizes. We would have rather divided the money among more people—still it was not of enough consequence to us to incur the stigma of not having acted fair towards everybody and we therefore concluded to give the prize undivided to the one winning number. Since then we have received at least twenty communications in which the division into smaller prizes is favored. In order to please all our patrons, the decision of the matter will be left to those holding tickets, who are present to-night. It will rest entirely with them. Drawing takes place this evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Respectfully,
MELLIS BROS & CO.

REMAINS IN THE COASTING TRADE

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.

ASTORIA, July 28.—The Ilwaco Steam Navigation Company have finally decided not to charter the steamer General Miles to parties in San Francisco. She commences the coasting business for which she was originally intended with a trip to Shoalwater bay on Monday, returning the same day.

THE CIRCUS.

Sherman's celebrated horse and family circus give two more performances—this afternoon and evening—and leave for the Inland Empire on Monday. It may be well enough to state for the benefit of readers in eastern Oregon and Washington, that this excellent show has no connection with the alleged circus which has been traveling through the Willamette valley, and received the hearty disapproval of every newspaper in the towns where it spread its canvas.

FROM THE FRONT.

Chapter of Accidents. Body of a Suicide Recovered. Personal Mention, Etc.

FROM THE OREGONIAN'S [illegible] CORRESPONDENT.

CABINET LANDING, July [illegible].

On the afternoon of July 17th, a most painful and serious accident occurred at Camp [illegible]. Mr. John Turner is foreman of a [illegible] gang at this camp [illegible] giant powder and was in the act of driving home the charge with [illegible] when the explosion [illegible]. [illegible] brought him to the company's hospital [illegible] Dr. F. Burton [illegible] were [illegible] and [illegible] assisted by Emil Boone and S. O. Herman. The [illegible] that his eyesight was destroyed [illegible]. Numbers [illegible] his face. Mr. Turner has been on the road since last October, and is considered a very temperate, hardworking and industrious man. At present writing he is resting easy and strong hopes are hopefully entertained for his recovery.

Mr. [illegible] sustained a painful accident by falling [illegible] at the crossing, fracturing [illegible].

On the [illegible] a dead body was seen floating in an eddy at this place by the ferryman. With the assistance of some bystanders the body was pulled to shore, when it proved to be Charles Wilcox. Readers of THE OREGONIAN will remember that notice was made in its columns about two weeks ago that Charles Wilcox had been missing several days. When Wilcox left [illegible] he told his family and acquaintance that he contemplated suicide. He being somewhat under the influence of liquor, no heed was taken of his threat. There is no telling where he had jumped into the swift current. The supposition is that he went a mile or so from here upstream and then made the fatal plunge. The river being quite high and bank being very brushy, he very likely got among briers and twigs and was held there till the water went down, when he broke loose and floated past here. Owing to the advanced stage of decomposition, the body was immediately buried without an inquest or ceremony.

Mr. McLaughlin, one of the proprietors of the company's stores, had a fright from fire last week. His tent is situated in heavy timber which took fire and came nigh enough to him to warrant his boxing his effects.

Sheriff Parmenter, of Kootenai county, paid Cabinet an official visit. Saloon keepers are in a quandary concerning paying taxes, as it is a disputed point whether Cabinet is in Idaho or Montana territories.

The express and postoffice will soon move to the front, and preparations are already made for their departure. Mr. Mills, agent for W., F. & Co., is a very accommodating and affable gentleman, while the same can be said of Mr. Roberts, who has so kindly attended to assorting our mails without compensation.

Capt. Miller, of the Henry Villard, was on our street during the week. In the evening he and two gentlemen constructed a raft and went steaming down the river to the crossing.

Dr. P. Harvey, of your city, arrived at the hospital on the 22d, and will take charge until Dr. Littlefield returns from Portland. Dr. Harvey relieves Dr. B. T. Burton, who is compelled to resign his professional position here owing to the bad state of the health of his wife and child. During his stay here he has made many warm friends, who are sorry to see him leave. The patients at the hospital have presented him with suitable preamble and resolutions for his kind attention and professional bearing. Mrs. Burton also has won the esteem and respect of all who know her.

Another disastrous accident, more fearful than the one of July 17th, terminating in the instant death of one man and the crippling of another has occurred. The accident occurred at camp 31, several miles from here. A fuse had been put in the pot hole but did not go off. Jack Smith, against protestations of his companions, commenced to pull out the fuse to enquire the cause of failure. In an instant the explosion took place, blowing Smith into atoms so that only small pieces of his flesh were found adhering to rocks. It is supposed that his remains were thrown into the river. Mr. James Hagan, who was standing about thirty feet from the scene, received a severe scalp wound and has his right leg below the knee badly injured. Both bones were crushed, and may result in amputation. He was brought to the company's hospital and his injuries attended to by Drs. Harvey and Burton. Several other parties received slight injuries. It is a miracle that not more were not instantly killed or crippled for life.

Dr. Littlefield found it necessary to get new tents, owing to so many accidents and sickness. His large ward is full with patients, and under treatment are doing well and seem satisfied with the care and nursing.

Mr. Tom Finnegan, one of the riding bosses, has gone to Portland on business.

Mr. Fred Feader, formerly of the Villard, has accepted a position with Mr. O. A. Tibbetts, forwarding agent.

Another accident occurred July 24th at camp 29. A. E. Perry was struck on the head by a falling rock which fell from the height of 75 feet, fracturing his skull. He was conveyed to the company's hospital, where his injuries were dressed. He remained in an unconscious condition all night, but at present writing he has regained consciousness and strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

News has just reached here from Rock Island of an unprovoked assault on George Caswell by a rough known as Red. The unfortunate man was beaten over the head by a bottle, fracturing his skull. Red is under guard by railroad men who will deal with him summarily should Caswell die. Several notorious loose characters were given a few hours to leave town in. There are a class who follow up the line and live like vampires on the workman's gain. The railroaders' ire is now fully aroused, and no doubt Judge Lynch will be interviewed sooner or later.

Mr. Eugene Shelby, Wells Fargo's affable route agent, is here assisting the removal of the office to the front.

TO THE MUSIC TRADE.

Merchants in the interior dealing in musical goods will find it to their interest to give the house of Simon Harris a trial. SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 29, 1882.

CITY.

FIRE DWELLINGS BURNED.—About [illegible] yesterday morning fire was discovered in a dwelling on Front street between Mill and Montgomery. An alarm was turned in, but before any [illegible] arrived the flames had broken through a window and attacked the adjoining building. The building in which the fire started was occupied by Simon Koshland [illegible] have been absent [illegible] ... [illegible] Mr. [illegible] was owned by [illegible] of Eagle City. His loss will be about [illegible]. The other building was owned by [illegible] Wattage, whose loss may reach $[illegible]. His tenant, [illegible] H. Moss, [illegible] the furniture, and was [illegible]. [illegible] furniture was covered by insurance in the State Home Mutual and Commercial companies. One of the men rooming in the house [illegible] steps in the room adjoining his during the night [illegible] made an investigation, when he found the door of the basement open. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary.

THE JACOBSON CASE.—Referring to the article in yesterday's OREGONIAN in regard to Jacobson, arrested before Judge Deady on a charge of selling liquor to Indians, it should be stated that Mrs. Miller of Wasco county, was not the complaining witness against Jacobson. She was simply a witness in behalf of a Chinaman employed by her as a cook, against whom Mrs. Jacobson had made a counter charge, alleging the same offense. It is proper and just to say, also, that there were no words whatever between Mrs. Miller and the Jacobsons on conflict of testimony. Mrs. Miller's testimony was delivered on the trial of the Chinaman, who was promptly discharged on her statement. This was all she had to do with the matter. She bore herself as the lady that she is, and it would be injustice to her to let the statement pass, from reports of the case, that any conflict took place between her and other parties before the court.

NEW BUILDINGS ACROSS THE RIVER.—The contract for the erection of the two-story brick building on the corner of Fourth and L streets for Mrs Hawthorne, was yesterday awarded to the following mechanics: Carpenter work to Haines Bros.; brick work and plastering to Robinson & Stoley. Iron work will be cast at Frank Payne's foundry. The building will be 50x50, with two stores below and offices above, and will cost, when completed, $7400. Matthew Brand has ordered the lumber for his new blacksmith shop on the corner of J and Fifth. It will be twenty-five front by fifty feet deep. John Parker also contemplates building a large shop on his property, corner of J and L streets. Dennis Sullivan is having two two-story dwelling houses erected on Holladay avenue, which are nearly completed.

WHY DID HE SHOOT?—W. B. Cantrell and Wm. Woods met on Fourth street, near Pine, yesterday afternoon, and after a few words had passed between them, Cantrell drew a pistol, and pointing it toward the ground fired. Woods grappled with Cantrell and attempted to get the weapon, but in the struggle the cylinder was loosened and fell out. Both men were arrested by the police, but would give no explanation of the trouble, and Woods refused to make a complaint against Cantrell. Both men were required to give $25 bail on a charge of indiscriminate use of firearms. If they do not forfeit the bail, which is probable, there may be further developments in the police court to-day.

TICKET THIEF.—John Dilke was arraigned in Justice White's court, yesterday, on a charge of stealing a ticket to San Francisco from James Smith. The testimony showed that Dilke had claimed to be the person taking tickets on the dock for the Oregon, which sailed Thursday night, and Smith had given up his ticket to him. A moment later Smith discovered his mistake but Dilke was gone. He was found after having sold the ticket and got drunk on the proceeds. Justice White found him guilty, and fined him $30. The ticket was for a steerage passage, and hence only petty larceny.

LIBEL DISMISSED.—In the U. S. circuit court yesterday Judge Deady rendered his decision in the case of the British steamship Devonshire, libeled for having berths for Chinese passengers constructed contrary to law. Hon. J. F. Watson represented the government and J. W. Whalley was counsel for the captain of the Devonshire. The decision made was on the exceptions taken by the defense to the libel. The exceptions were sustained and the libel dismissed on the ground that in the opinion of the court the statute in that particular did not apply to steamships.

LOW RATE ON FRUITS.—Much dissatisfaction having been expressed by the residents in the neighborhood of Lake Pend d'Oreille at the high price of green fruit, the O. R. & N. and Northern Pacific companies determined to do their share towards relieving the complaints. Yesterday they issued a freight tariff on all kinds of fruit from Walla Walla to points on the Northern Pacific as far as Cabinet Landing, at one-fourth of regular rates. The tariff will be in effect during the remainder of the year.

FIGHTING FOR $10.—John Powers was arrested yesterday by Capt. Belcher in a saloon on the corner of First and Oak streets, where he had picked up from the bar a $10 gold piece belonging to Pat Harron, and refusing to give it up. When Harron persisted in asking for it Powers struck him a severe blow in the eye, cutting his face badly. At the police station the $10 was found on Powers after he had said he had not taken it and had no money of his own. He will be tried in the police court to-day.

BOXING WITHOUT GLOVES.—Sam. Harris and Michael Harrigan, were arrested by Constable Grant yesterday, while engaged in a fist fight on First street near Oak. They were taken to Justice Greene's court, where each preferred a charge of assault and battery against the other. Harris pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs. Harrigan pleaded not guilty, was tried, found guilty and sentenced the same as Harris. Both were unable to pay their fines and were committed to the county jail.

TWO MORE NIGHTS.—The Madison Square Company left for The Dalles yesterday morning and gave Hazel Kirke there last night. They return here by Sunday's boat, and give farewell performances Monday and Tuesday evenings, previous to their departure for Puget sound and San Francisco. The company throughout is made up of material of such rare excellence that too much praise can not be spoken. The closing performances merit and will no doubt have large audiences.

EAST PORTLAND TEACHERS.—The directors of school district No. 31, Holladay's addition, have appointed the following teachers for the coming term: Principal, Prof. Wm. Pratt; assistants, Miss Nettie Spencer, Miss Packard and Miss Gove. Prof. Pratt is a brother of Prof. L. W. Pratt, principal of the Harrison street school in this city, and comes well recommended from the east. Miss Spencer is a graduate of the agricultural college, Corvallis, and the assistants are all able teachers.

LADD'S LICENSE.—The case of Wm. S. Ladd and Wm M. Ladd, arrested for non-payment of the city banking license, was called in the police court yesterday afternoon. A lengthy argument was heard upon both sides, lasting over two hours. City Attorney S. W. Rice prosecuted and J. W. Whalley appeared for the defense. At the close, Judge Moreland announced that he would take the case under advisement and render a decision as soon as possible.

NEW STREET CLEANER.—A. F. Murphy, a blacksmith of this city, has invented a street cleaner of very simple construction, to be operated during the muddy season when the sweeper cannot be used. It consists of two shares hinged at the center, and is handled in about the same manner as a plow, but is shaped like a harrow. It is not necessary to turn with it, as the center hinge allows the shares to be reversed. A patent has been applied for.

LITERARY AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.—The Good Temperance Society will to-night give one of their enjoyable entertainments, to consist of a piano duet by Misses Blackwood and Maxwell, a reading by Miss Annie Knox, an address by Rev. Frederick R. Marvin, pastor of the Congregational church, a song by Prof. Bullock, recitation by Daisy Sharp, guitar solo by Miss Hathaway. The admission has been put at only ten cents.

[illegible] F.—Esperance Council No. 14, composed of French residents, have installed the following officers for the ensuing term: P. C. C. L. [illegible]; [illegible] C. B. Fety; V. C., A. Salmon; S. B. Mantelli; [illegible] A. Mano; T., C. Pabr; M., C. A. Potrain; [illegible], J. Dronilhat; W., A. Portas; J., T. Mancret; sentry, Mr. Conilet. The lodge meets the second and fourth Wednesdays in each month.

WRECKED.—P. W. Gillette, the real estate agent, has too much confidence in his buggy nag. He drove out on the Cornell road yesterday, and of course did not hitch the animal. It wasn't necessary; he was gentle as a lamb. When Mr. Gillette returned from the house to the road he found the horse all right, but his $350 phaeton was at the bottom of the gulch. W. W. Espy will hold an autopsy of the vehicle this morning.

CRICKET MATCH.—This afternoon a cricket game will be played on the South Portland grounds between the first eleven of the cricket club and a team chosen from base ball players, the latter to have a bowler and one other cricketer. The [illegible] will leave New Market building at 4 o'clock, and wickets will be pitched at 3:30. Ladies are invited.

WILL REBUILD.—Mrs. Ellen Malarkey will soon commence laying a stone foundation on the site of the recent fire and erect thereon a brick building 50 feet front by 90 deep. D. J. Malarkey & Co. will reopen this morning at No. 44 Front street, next door to Wadhams & Elliott.

CAMP MEETING.—A camp meeting for Powell's valley circuit will be held in the cedar grove near the old grounds, commencing on Thursday, August [illegible] and continuing over Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to both ministers and laymen.

PLAT FILED.—Yesterday, Gustavus Murhard and wife filed with the county clerk a plat of the Murhard tract, bounded by S. U. North 20th and North [illegible] streets. A portion of it is given to the city to be [illegible] and used as streets.

MATCH AGAINST TIME.—It is understood that [illegible] have matched Dexter for $1000 [illegible], which is [illegible] seconds faster than the fastest [illegible] ever trotted in Oregon. The trial will take place at an early day.

[illegible] PETROLEUM.—The O. R. & N. Co. will [illegible] on the freight boats of the lower river [illegible] petroleum of 110 degrees fire test, [illegible] marks are upon every package.

THE STEAMERS.—The State arrived in at 11:30 yesterday morning [illegible] and [illegible] at 8:15. The Oregon arrived down at [illegible] and went to sea at noon.

Drink [illegible] Pfund [illegible].

GOVERNOR THAYER SHOWS MERCY TO JOHN C. POWERS.

And Commutes the Death Sentence to Imprisonment for Life—Reasons Given for this Act of Clemency, Etc.

[illegible] Governor Thayer [illegible] Powers [illegible] the 4th of [illegible], 1881 to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life. Following is [illegible]:

[illegible] STATE OF OREGON, EXECUTIVE OFFICE, SALEM [illegible]

In the matter of the application for executive clemency in favor of J. C. Powers.

At the October term, 1881, of the circuit court of the county of Multnomah, Powers was [illegible] murder of Cornelius [illegible] ... all that is asked. I have also received several letters from prominent citizens residing in different parts of the state soliciting a change of the sentence, and have been advised by many others with whom I have consulted that it was a proper case for executive interference. One of the petitions received was signed by nearly all the members of the bar of the fourth judicial district. I have had a few parties who were opposed to any reduction or commutation of the sentence, but I am fully satisfied that the sentiment of a great majority of the people of the state is against the execution of Powers, and that the petitions and letters referred to as a general thing, express the honest convictions of the signers. These various petitions are more important from the fact that the circumstances of the homicide were widely known. The affair occurred at a celebration of the 4th of July in Portland, when a large number of persons were present, and was extensively published throughout the country. Consequently the people had a better knowledge of it than they generally do of such occurrences, and are able to petition more intelligently. Though I attach importance to petitions in all proper cases, the right of petition is secured to the people by the highest authority known to the government. It may be, and probably often is, abused; but it does not follow that petitions are to be ignored, for that would be destructive of the immunity itself; yet there should always be reasonable grounds upon which to found a petition. A governor, for instance, would not be justified in changing the sentence of the law pronounced by the court simply because the people requested it. A valid reason should be shown for so important an act, else it should be refused. In considering the subject of a pardon, the executive has no right, in my judgment, to review the law or evidence in the case for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not error has been committed in the conviction of the party. The court and jury constitute the tribunal to settle questions of that character, and their action in that matter is a finality, and is unimpeachable in this proceeding. The court and jury determine the law and the facts, and I must assume that their determination in this case has been correct, and that Powers was, in accordance with the law and evidence, rightfully and properly convicted of murder in the first degree, and that, by the laws of this state, he has forfeited his life. Still I think that the general circumstances which have occasioned the killing may be taken into consideration in an application for clemency, though I concede that an attempt to draw a distinction between cases in which parties have "purposely, and of deliberate and premeditated malice," killed people, appears like subtlety, a refinement that possibly should never be admitted where human life has, under such circumstances, been sacrificed. But, as a matter of fact, there may be a wide difference in cases, both in the manner of the killing and the circumstances and motives occasioning it. The assassin who lays in wait for his victim and stealthily murders him for his money is a greater culprit, morally, than he who, smarting under a sense of injury to himself or family, confronts the offender and slays him; yet the law might adjudge both acts offenses of the same grade. It is claimed in this case, in the petitions and letters before mentioned, that a family difficulty had arisen between the deceased and Powers: that Powers had married his daughter, that they had children; that there had been a separation, and that Powers had become annoyed and exasperated on account of it; that the deceased was a powerful man physically; that on the day of the murder he had armed himself in expectation of a difficulty; that the two parties met in a street in the city of Portland; that a desperate encounter ensued in which both were actors and in which Powers was severely, and Cornelius mortally wounded, and upon these grounds substantially executive clemency is urged. I understand that Powers is a business man, has been engaged in getting out lumber for several years; that he has been regarded as a person possessing a good deal of physical courage; has been somewhat addicted to drinking, and has had some personal difficulties, but has not been regarded as a criminal. On the contrary, has been considered a man of reasonably fair character; one that has observed his contracts, paid his debts, and been honest in his dealings.

This application for clemency has been made at a time set for its hearing, and in pursuance of a regularly published notice. No counter-statement has been presented or opposition made to it other than as before stated, the question now to be determined is, whether the state can, consistently with its dignity, and the duty which it owes to its citizens, in maintaining order in the community, in protecting them in their rights, and in securing them in their persons, afford to commute the sentence of death to that of imprisonment for life.

It involves a matter strictly between the commonwealth and Powers. No feelings of malice or vindictiveness can enter into it. If the lesser punishment will subserve the ends of justice, if it is adequate under the circumstances of the case, then it would be a great moral wrong to inflict the greater; it would be closing the door of mercy, a quality of our nature that is more refining and ennobling in its tendency than any other attribute we possess. It has been suggested with a degree of seriousness that there would be no objection to the commutation of Powers' sentence if any reasonable assurance could be given that he would be imprisoned during his natural life, but that the apprehension was so strong that he would at some future time be released, made it very necessary that he should be put to death. Of course I cannot consider any arguments of that character. I have no right to suppose that he will be relieved of his sentence unless circumstances should justify it. Besides, the question for me to determine is not one of expediency. I am obliged to decide it upon its merits, uninfluenced by anticipations of a possible neglect of duty upon the part of some future governor of the state. After a careful consideration of the various circumstances connected with the transaction, and through a respect for the opinions of the great number of persons who have urged the exercise of executive clemency in this matter, I have concluded to commute the sentence against Powers to imprisonment for life. And I base my action [illegible] upon the grounds that the substituted punishment is sufficiently severe in this case to subserve the ends and purposes of justice.

Upon the question of a full pardon I deem it proper to state that I can see no grounds whatever upon which it could be granted. No one has a right to attempt to vindicate his wrongs, whether real or imaginary, by violent measures. Such a course would be subversive of law and order, and if not promptly checked would break up and destroy society itself. The jury has settled the question as to which party was the aggressor in the affair, and the degree of the offense, and while the general circumstances surrounding the transaction, that could not be taken into account by the jury, may, out of a regard for human life, justify a mitigation of the punishment, they should not be admitted to excuse the offence. Powers' conduct has been high-handed and unlawful; and if the rigor of the law is flexed by the spirit of mercy, still the claims of justice must not be disregarded. The sentence, in my judgment, should not be changed beyond the commutation mentioned.

W. W. THAYER,
Governor of Oregon.

HOW POWERS RECEIVED THE NEWS.

Shortly before noon Sheriff Sears entered Powers' cell and told him of the governor's action. The prisoner received the news with little visible emotion, but expressed unbounded gratitude to the governor, to the people who petitioned for his pardon, and to the officers of the court for uniform kindness. In conversation with an OREGONIAN reporter last night, he said he would rather die a hundred [illegible] than go to the penitentiary as a convict. He seemed very despondent for one who had just come out from under the shadow of the gallows, and except for the disgrace upon his children by reason of an ignominious death, seemed as willing to die by the hands of the law as to go to a lingering death in prison walls.

Before being taken to the penitentiary he will have the bullet extracted from his face. It still gives him much pain, and the left side of his face feels as if paralyzed. The operation will likely be performed Monday.

CANADIAN SOCIETY ORGANIZED.—Thursday evening a mass meeting of Canadians was held at No. 57 North First street.—An audience of over fifty were in attendance. Representatives of several towns in Oregon came with lists bearing numbers of names. Several speeches were made on the occasion, and the following officers were elected by the assembly: Honorary president, Hon. F. X. Mathieu; president, J. B. Gendron; vice president, David Girard; secretary and treasurer, F. X. Paquet; councilors, H. Pearl, S. C. Manion, A. Segain, A. Delor, E. [illegible]. This first move of the Canadian element in [illegible] allying together is an inauguration of progress. It is to be hoped that the next meeting, which will take place on the 15th of August, will be attended by a still larger audience.

EXPLANATORY CARD.

In the Telegram of the 26th inst, we published the card of "A Ticket Holder," in which he objects to having the thousand dollars divided into 50 twenty-dollar prizes. We would have rather divided the money among more people—still it was not of enough consequence to us to incur the stigma of not having acted fair towards everybody and we therefore concluded to give the prize undivided to the one winning number. Since then we have received at least twenty communications in which the division into smaller prizes is favored. In order to please all our patrons, the decision of the matter will be left to those holding tickets, who are present tonight. It will rest entirely with them. Drawing takes place this evening at 9:30 o'clock.

Respectfully,
MELLIS BROS & CO.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ASTORIA, July 28.—The Ilwaco Steam Navigation Company have finally decided not to charter the steamer General Miles to parties in San Francisco. She commences the coasting business for which she was originally intended with a trip to Shoalwater bay on Monday, returning the same day.

THE CIRCUS.

Sherman's celebrated horse and family circus give two more performances—this afternoon and evening—and leave for the Inland Empire on Monday. It may be well enough to state for the benefit of readers in eastern Oregon and Washington, that this excellent show has no connection with the alleged circus which has been traveling through the Willamette valley, and received the hearty disapproval of every newspaper in the towns were it spread its canvas.

FROM THE FRONT.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S OWN CORRESPONDENT.]

On the afternoon of July 17th [illegible] ... [illegible] Mr. C. Perelli sustained a painful accident by falling [illegible] at the crossing, fracturing [illegible].

[illegible] body was [illegible] this place by the ferryman. With the assistance of some bystanders the body was pulled on shore, when it proved to be Charles Wilcox. Readers of THE OREGONIAN will remember that mention was made in its columns about two weeks ago that Charles Wilcox had been missing several days. When Wilcox left the house he told his family and acquaintances that he contemplated suicide. He being somewhat under the influence of liquor, no heed was taken of his threat. There is no telling where he had jumped into the swift current. The suggestion is that he went a mile or so from here up stream and then made the fatal plunge. The river here is quite high and bank being very brushy, he very likely fell among briars and twigs and was held there till the water went down, when he broke loose and floated past here. Owing to the advanced stage of decomposition, the body was immediately buried without an inquest or ceremony.

Mr. McLaughlin, one of the proprietors of the company's store, had a fright from fire last week. His tent is situated in heavy timber which took fire and came near enough to him to warrant his boxing his effects.

Sheriff Parmenter, of Kootenai county, paid Cabinet an official visit. Saloon keepers are in a quandary concerning paying taxes, as it is a disputed point whether Cabinet is in Idaho or Montana territories.

The express and postoffice will soon move to the front, as preparations are already made for their departure. Mr. Mills, agent for W. F. & Co., is a very accommodating and affable gentleman, while the same can be said of Mr. Roberts, who has so kindly attended to assorting our mails without compensation.

Capt. Miller, of the Henry Villard, was on our street during the week. In the evening he and two gentlemen constructed a raft and went steaming down the river to the crossing.

Dr. P. Harvey, of your city, arrived at the hospital on the 22d, and will take charge until Dr. Littlefield returns from Portland. Dr. Harvey relieves Dr. B. T. Barton, who is compelled to resign his professional position here owing to the bad state of the health of his wife and child. During his stay here he has made many warm friends, who are sorry to see him leave. The patients at the hospital have presented him with suitable preamble and resolutions for his kind attention and professional bearing. Mrs. Barton also has won the esteem and respect of all who knew her.

Another disastrous accident, more fearful than the one of July 17th, terminating in the instant death of one man and the crippling of another has occurred. The accident occurred at camp 30, several miles from here. A fuse had been put in the pot hole but did not go off. Jack Smith, against protestations of his companions, commenced to pull out the fuse to explore the cause of failure. In an instant the explosion took place, blowing Smith into atoms so that only small pieces of his flesh were found adhering to rocks. It is supposed that his remains were thrown into the river. Mr. James Hagan, who was standing about thirty feet from the scene, received a severe scalp wound and has his right leg below the knee badly injured. Both bones were crushed, and may result in amputation. He was brought to the company's hospital and his injuries attended to by Drs. Harvey and Barton. Several other parties received slight injuries. It is a miracle that not more were not instantly killed or crippled for life.

Dr. Littlefield found it necessary to get new tents, owing to so many accidents and sickness. His large ward is full with patients, and under treatment are doing well and seem satisfied with the care and nursing.

Mr. Tom Finnegan, one of the riding bosses, has gone to Portland on business.

Mr. Fred Feader, formerly of the Villard, has accepted a position with Mr. O. A. Tibbetts, forwarding agent.

Another accident occurred July 24th at camp 29. A. H. Perry was struck on the head by a falling rock which fell from the height of 75 feet, fracturing his skull. He was conveyed to the company's hospital, where his injuries were dressed. He remained in an unconscious condition all night, but at present writing he has regained consciousness and strong hopes are entertained for his recovery.

News has just reached here from Rock Island of an unprovoked assault on George Caswell by a rough known as Red. The unfortunate man was beaten over the head by a bottle, fracturing his skull. Red is under guard by railroad men who will deal with him summarily should Caswell die. Several notorious characters were given a few hours to leave town in. There are a class who follow up the line and live like vampires on the workman's gain. The railroaders' ire is now fully aroused, and no doubt Judge Lynch will be interviewed sooner or later.

Mr. Eugene Shelby, Wells Fargo's affable route agent, is here assisting the removal of the office to the front.

DECISION IN U. S. CIRCUIT COURT BY DEADY, J.

U. S. Circuit Court—District of Oregon.

FRIDAY, July 28, 1882.

THE DEVONSHIRE.—George Marshal, et al claimants. In Admiralty. No. 829.

(1) BERTHS ON STEAM VESSELS—The provisions of §2 of the act of March 3, 1855, (10 Stat. 716; §4255) relating to the construction and occupation of berths on vessels carrying passengers from foreign ports to the United States, are not deemed applicable to steam vessels.

(2) RE-ENACTMENT OF STATUTE—FORMER CONSTRUCTION OF IT.—Where a statute has received a judicial construction and is afterwards re-enacted by the legislature of the same or another country, it is presumed to have been passed as construed.

DEADY, J.

This is a suit in rem, brought by the United States to enforce a lien against the British steamship, Devonshire, for $4,130 of penalties, alleged to have been incurred by the master and owners by violation of §2 of the act of March 3, 1855 (10 Stat. 716; §4255 of the R. S.), entitled, "An act to regulate the carriage of passengers in steamships and other vessels."

The libel alleges that on June 12, 1882, the said steamship, at the port of Hongkong, China, took on board 826 passengers, and on July 7, 1882, brought the same to the port of Astoria, and within the jurisdiction of the United States and this court; that the berths used by the passengers on said voyage were not constructed parallel with the sides of the vessel or separated by partitions, or two feet in width as required by said §4255 of the R. S., and were occupied by more than one passenger contrary thereto, whereby said master and owner of said steamship, severally, became liable to pay to the United States a penalty of $5 for each of said passengers, and that the libellant has a lien upon said steamship for the amount thereof.

The claimants except to the libel, and allege that the Devonshire is a steamship and the passengers in question were steerage passengers and therefore said §4255 of the R. S. upon which the libel is founded, does not apply to her, and pray that the libel may be dismissed.

The first section of this act (§§4252-3-4 of the R. S.), provides that "no master of any vessel," foreign or domestic, shall take on at any foreign port in a territory not contiguous to the United States with intent to bring thereto, a greater number of passengers than in the proportion of one to every two tons of said vessel, and that "the spaces appropriated for the use of said passengers and which shall not be occupied by stores or other goods, not the personal baggage of such passengers," shall be in a certain specified proportion to the whole number of passengers allotted to such space.

The second section (§4255 of the R. S.) provides that "no such vessel shall have more than two tiers of berths;" and prescribes the interval between the lowest part thereof and the deck or platform;" and that "the berths shall be well constructed, parallel with the sides of the vessel, and seperated from each other by partitions;" and be of a certain length and width, and each only occupied by one passenger; with a provision for double berths to be occupied by more then one person under certain circumstances and restrictions. For any violation of this section, it is declared that the master of the vessel and the owners thereof shall severally be liable to a penalty of $5 for each passenger on board of such vessel on such voyage, to be recovered by the United States in any port where such vessel may arrive or depart.

The fifteenth section (§4270 of the R. S.) declares that "the amount of the several penalties imposed by the foregoing provisions regulating the carriage of passengers in merchant vessels shall be liens on the vessel violating those provisions; and such vessel shall be libeled therefor in any district or circuit court of the United States where such vessel shall arrive."

Each of these sections uses the word "vessel" without in any way limiting its application to a sail vessel. Standing alone and without qualification, they would include in their provisions a steam as well as a sail vessel. A vessel is none the less one on account of the manner of her propulsion, whether by oars, sails or steam. And the Rev. Stat. (§3), declare that the term "includes every description of water craft or other artificial contrivance used or capable of being used as a means of transportation on water."

But the tenth section of the act, (§4264 R. S.; act Feb. 27, 1877, 19 Stat., 250) provides that "the provisions, requisitions, penalties and liens of this act relating to the space in vessels appropriated to the use of passengers are hereby extended and made applicable to all places appropriated to the use of steerage passengers in vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam, and navigating from, to and between the ports, and in manner as in this act named, and to such vessels and the masters thereof; and repeals so much of the steamboat act of Aug. 30, 1852 [10 Stat. 61] as conflicts therewith; and further provides that "the space appropriated to the use of steerage passengers" on steam vessels, shall be "subject to the supervision and inspection of the collector of customs," as provided in §9 of the act, in the case of other vessels.

In January, 1868, this statute came before the district court for the S. D. of New York for construction, in the case of [illegible] Manhattan (1 Ben. 88), which [illegible] account of penalties alleged to have been incurred by the master and owner in the violation of this same §2.

Judge Blatchford held that the section was not applicable to steamships upon the familiar rule that the statute must be so construed as to give effect to every significant [illegible] or word in it (Smith's Com. [illegible]) and, if the provisions of the second [illegible] extended to steam [illegible] notwithstanding the tenth section, then the provisions of the first section do also, and the tenth is altogether useless and nugatory. This decision was affirmed on appeal to the circuit court, and the judge who made it has since been placed on the supreme bench. No other decision upon the act has been cited or come to my knowledge.

In the revision of the statutes, this §10 was [illegible] and the whole act left applicable to steam vessels. But afterwards it was re-enacted, as an amendment to §4264 of the R. S., by the act of February 27, 1877 (19 Stat., 250), to perfect the revision of the statutes of the U. S., etc. By reason of this amendment the statute now stands as it did when the second section was construed in the case of the Manhattan, not to be applicable to steam vessels, with this additional and material circumstance in favor of such construction, namely: that congress by the deliberate replacement of §10, have not only declared it shall have effect as a part of the statute, but presumably that it shall have such effect according to the construction given to it in the case [illegible] (Sedgwick v. Dialogue, 2 Pet. [illegible]; Kirkpatrick v. Gibson's executors, 2 Brock., 391; Com. v. Hartnett, 3 Gray, 451; Cathcart v. Robinson, 5 Pet., 270.)

The argument of the district attorney in favor of the libel is, that the provisions in §2 are regulations relating to the "space" appropriated to passengers, and therefore made applicable to steam vessels by the operation of §10, because, by them the "space" between each berth and that appropriated to each passenger [illegible] which §1 is intended to guard, is not without force.

There is quite as much need that a steerage passenger shall have the "space" and privacy provided in §2, when he lies down to sleep or is prostrated with sickness, as that he shall have the general breathing "space" between decks provided in §1. And although the word "space" is not used in §2, still that is the subject of it, and its division and appropriation among the passengers, for the purpose of berths, is thereby carefully and minutely regulated.

But, in the light of the decision in the case of the Manhattan, and particularly the unqualified re-enactment by congress of §10 in 1877, after the construction there given to it, in 1868, I do not feel at liberty to hold otherwise. The exception is sustained and the libel dismissed.

And it may not be amiss to remark that this conclusion is not in conflict with what may be called the justice of the case. These Chinese immigrants are all males, and generally adults, and there is very little need in their case in the division of berths, as required by said §2.

This regulation was made to meet the case of European immigrants, consisting of both sexes, married and unmarried.

It is not pretended that any particular harm or inconvenience has resulted from the want of a division of berths in this case, and the enforcement of the law, even if it were applicable, would be more for the punishment of the shipper than for the protection of the immigrant.

James F. Watson for the U. S.

John W. Whalley for the claimants.

Guiteau's prediction that the country would suffer an awful affliction in the event of his execution has proven true. Congress is still in session.

A FOOL ONCE MORE.

"For ten years my wife was confined to her bed with such a complication of ailments that no doctor could tell what was the matter or cure her, and I used up a small fortune in humbug stuff. Six months ago I saw a U. S. flag with Hop Bitters on it, and I thought I would be a fool once more. I tried it, but my folly proved to be wisdom. Two bottles cured her, she is now as well and strong as any man's wife, and it cost me only two dollars. Such folly pays.—H. W., Detroit, Mich.—Free Press.

If the wolves had only eaten Mrs. Southworth the infliction of a world of sickly fiction would have been spared the suffering people of the United States.

Since the first oil well was opened in 1859 the product of the wells has added $1,500,000,000 to the wealth of the United States in the value of the crude oil and its products. To-day the products of these wells lights the cathedrals of Europe, the mosques of Asia, the pagodas of Japan and even the huts on Africa's sunny soil. Its exports are over 1,000,000 gallons a day.

Since the downfall of the southern confederacy Mr. Judah P. Benjamin, "the brains of the rebel government," has enjoyed great prosperity as a lawyer in England. Recently, on looking over his list of cases, he found that it included just half of all the suits from the entire realm that were before the house of lords on appeal. His wife and daughter now live in Paris, the latter having married a French army officer.

NOTES AND NEWS.

Census bulletin 203 informs us that the state of Nevada has but 1304 farms.

London is now so healthy that the death rate is lower than at any time for forty years. The cause is the improved sanitary regulations.

Senator Fair says that he has a house in Virginia City that cost him $50,000 which would not now sell for $1000, so stagnant is business there.

Boston Globe: The reporter of a New York paper went to see the panorama of "Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress." The man at the door refused to admit him without paying, and the reporter said: "Send Mr. Bunyan out here; he will let me in."

A man who sought in vain for employment in New York tried a new tack recently. He shipped before the mast to Europe and came back on a return steamer as a poor emigrant. The charitable associations gave him plenty of work at good wages as soon as he landed.

Philadelphia kills her surplus dogs, not by drowning them in a cage, but by introducing carbonic oxide gas into an apartment which, after the dogs are driven into it, is made air tight. One hundred can be dispatched in this manner at once, and their death is quick and painless.

Arrangements have been made by which some of the college lectures at Oxford will be thrown open to female students. Among the lectures thus opened will be those by the master of university on English history, by Mr. Butcher on Greek literature, and by Mr. Pelham on ancient history.

Next to the protection of the Suez canal the greatest British interest in Egypt is the maintenance of the Anglo-French control. The control employs 1300 officials, receiving salaries amounting to a total of $1,865,000, its object being to secure the payment of the interest on loans amounting to $300,000,000. These loans were advanced to the late khedive, who squandered the money.

Marie Antoinette's Furniture at the Hamilton Sale.

London Times, June 21.

After this came three beautiful pieces of Marie Antoinette marqueterie furniture, of which the little writing-table was taken first and placed before the crowded audience with a round of applause. It is an oblong writing-table, en suite, with drawer fitted with ink stand, writing slide, and shelf beneath, an oval medallion of a trophy and flowers on the top, and trophies with four medallions round the sides, stamped J. Riesener and branded underneath with the cipher of Marie Antoinette and "Garde Meuble de la Reine." These specimens were executed for Queen Marie Antoinette. In both the wood and metal work the utmost perfection of design and execution is displayed at the culminating period of French decorative art, and in all probability the suite of furniture, as a whole, is the most important and beautiful work of its kind produced in the age of Louis XVI. The first bid was 3000 guineas, the next 4000 guineas, and then 4500 guineas, after which the biddings advanced by hundreds up to £5750, and then by fifties to £6000, at which sum the hammer fell to Mr. Wertheimer's bid.

The next piece was a Louis XVI. upright secretaire, made for Marie Antoinette by Riesener, signed by him and dated 1790. On the front is an oval chasing in ormolu by Gouthiere of doves, with a quiver of arrows and flowers in a shield, shaped panel of marqueterie, and wreaths of flowers in colored woods, baskets of flowers, fruit and ornaments, with borders of flowers and trellis pattern in parqueterie, the ormolu ornaments of flowers, moldings elaborately chased and finely executed by Gouthiere, the most famous chaser of his time. It is branded on the back with the cipher of Marie Antoinette and "Garde Meuble de la Reine," and measures four feet nine inches high by three feet six inches wide. Put up at 1500 guineas, it speedily reached 4400 guineas (£4620), at which sum it was knocked down to Mr. Moore's bid.

The commode, en suite, also made by Riesener, and signed by him, with date 1791—one year later—was put up at a bid of 1000 guineas, and, advancing with the same spirited bidding from the great dealers present, paused for a moment at 4000 guineas, when M. Settiner bid 4100 guineas, and was declared the purchaser.

[illegible] these exquisite and unique specimens of old French furniture, which had been companions in the palace of the French queen, and had remained so many years preserved in the palace of the Hamiltons, were separated probably never to be brought together again. The three pieces brought altogether £14,235, making a weighty addition to the proceeds of the day, which amounted to £29,485. This, with the two previous days, gives a total of £91,563.

The Situation in Pennsylvania.

New York Times.

The time for compromise between stalwarts and independents in Pennsylvania is over. The question must be decided through the ballot-box whether a majority of the republicans of Pennsylvania are content to have the party ruled by the Camerons, and in comparison with this the other question as to who shall be elected governor of the state will be generally regarded as of minor importance. The criticisms of Chairman Cooper on the "arbitrary" and "dictatorial" character of the independent proposals form a curious testimony to the strength of the anti-Cameron arguments, since their enemies are compelled to borrow their phraseology to answer them.

EASTERN FREIGHT SITUATION.

NEW YORK, July 28.—The freight market via Cape Horn still presents a fair degree of activity for the season, but the extreme heat of the past few days has had a depressing influence, as many merchants have left the city, consequently there is less doing. However, with the advent of seasonable weather, it is anticipated that there will be quite a large trade done with clippers, notwithstanding opposition with railroads. Rates are unchanged. Tonnage is very scarce and no charters noted for the California trade. Railroad freights are fairly active now that difficulties in shipping are well over. Shipments the past week include 400 boxes peppersauce, 500 pkgs. tobacco, 150 cases salios, 205 cases canned goods, 250 cases oil, 60 bbls. currants, 100 boxes soap, 100 cases milk, 60 cases sardines, 20 bags nuts, 100 cases capers, 875 cases baking powders, 500 bbls. rosin, 100 boxes tin, 250 kegs nails and 730 pkgs. gunpowder.

The San Francisco Freight Market.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The tone of the market remains much the same as last week. There is no activity to speak of in any department, and the movement in all descriptions continues light. There have been only three charters drawn during the week—two sailing vessels for wheat and one steamer to load lumber at Port Blakely for China on private terms. The position of the freight market, as established by the rate of the French bark Gers, shows undiminished firmness. That vessel, it is understood, had advantageous continental options, but the terms are for the present reserved. Inactivity has been the feature of the market since then; although holders have apparently no intention of doing so, any attempt to press ships upon the market would result in lower rates. In the meantime there are a number of ships due, and while loading is rapid, exporters experience a good deal of trouble in bringing holders of wheat around to their views.

Egyptian Crops.

ALEXANDRIA, July 28.—Persons competent to judge believe half the cotton crop of Egypt will be lost; also the greater part of the wheat crop of lower Egypt in consequence of neglected irrigation.

San Francisco Markets.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Wheat—No. 1 spot, $1 72½, steady.

Barley—No. 1 feed, spot, $1 30.

Bags—Calcutta wheat, spot, $9 75.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, July 28.—Wheat active and lower; regular, $1 01 July, 97¾ August; winter, $1 01⅛ bid cash; spring, $1 30 cash, $1 28 July.
